100 PLANES BATTLE OVER BRITISH COAST

Wally's First Sued—Divorce action of Commander Earl Winfield Spencer, first husband of the Duchess of Windsor, and his third wife, the former Norma Johnson, widow of a Detroit manufacturer, today was being heard in Santa Monica, Cal., court. Both charge cruelty . . . and in addition, Mrs. Spencer alleges her husband is habitually intemperate. STORY ON 3

Cupid Calls—Her betrothal announced by her father, Actor Fred Stone, Carol (above) will become the bride of Robert W. McCahon, son of a prominent Brookline lumberman, on July 31. Now playing in summer stock in New Haven, Ct., Miss Stone will continue her stage career after her marriage.

100 PLANES CLASH OFF BRITISH COAST

LONDON, July 24 (INS)—A sample of what will happen when Nazi Germany's long-awaited "total war" opens on Great Britain apparently began today with a series of violent raids on widely-scattered points and one terrific air battle over a southeast coast town in which nearly 100 planes participated.

Meanwhile in Berlin the German high command announced that an entire convoy of five commercial vessels, totaling 15,000 tons, were sunk this morning by the German air force and that a 4000-ton vessel was set afire.—Editor's note.

British authorities claimed at least 10 German planes were downed this afternoon, even as new flights of Nazi bombers and fighters were reported over southwest England and Wales.

At least eight planes were brought down by Royal Air Force fighters and anti-aircraft fire off the coasts of England, while two German attackers crashed in the sky battle which took place in full view of the residents of an unidentified town.

SEEN BY HUNDREDS

While hundreds of persons watched spellbound, the enemy planes wheeled, dipped and dived as the pilots jockeyed for position. When the encounter ended, two German fighters had been brought down.

One of the German planes engaged in the battle crashed in the middle of a road only a few yards from inhabited cottages while another landed in a cornfield.

The nose of the first plane was embedded 14 feet deep in the ground and the fuselage crumpled like cardboard. The pilot managed to bale out, but his parachute broke away and he fell to death in the playing-field of a nearby school.

The pilot of the second machine was injured by machine gun fire and taken to a hospital.

The battle, which began off the coast and moved for a time over the town, was one of the fiercest yet witnessed by England.

German bombing planes, escorted by fighters, had been attacking a convoy in the Thames estuary. While bombing merchant ships, squadrons of Royal Air Force fighters swooped down upon the raiders, which fled toward the coast.

Earlier in the day, British fighting planes hurled themselves at German bombers over England, Scotland, Wales and the English channel, shooting down four raiders in a series of aerial battles, while anti-aircraft fire accounted for a fifth bomber.

REGISTRATION FOR DRAFT TO START IN SEPTEMBER

WASHINGTON, July 24—Registration under the pending conscription program has been set tentatively for about Sept. 1, it was learned today, with the first 400,000 conscripts expected to start training a month later.

Although Congress has yet to act on the necessary legislation, a War Department official disclosed that agencies in the 48 states already have begun preparations for the selective service plan. The initial trainees probably will be chosen from men between 21 and 31 years old.

The Senate military committee started the compulsory training issue toward a congressional decision by voting yesterday to recommend enactment of the Burke-Wadsworth bill. Committee members thought it would be ready for Senate debate next week. Vigorous opposition has been forecast.

The committee, meanwhile, worked to perfect details of the measure, which provides for registration of all males between 18 and 64 years—a total of 42,000,000. Only those between 21 and 45—some 24,000,000—would be liable for active service. Those of other ages could be used for home defense purposes. "One of the purposes of this wide registration is to make every home conscious of the national defense program," said Chairman Sheppard (D.) of Texas.

STATES NOTIFIED

The War Department official who disclosed Sept. 1 as the tentative registration date said the joint Army and Navy selective service committee had notified existing state agencies that Congress soon may pass a training bill. The agencies were instructed to overhaul their draft machinery in anticipation.

This notification, the official emphasized, was purely advisory and

Kennedy Will Quit Post for Business

WASHINGTON, July 24 (INS)—Joseph P. Kennedy expects to resign soon as American ambassador to Great Britain, perhaps within a few weeks, it was reported today in authoritative quarters.

Persons close to Kennedy in Washington believe that he already has notified President Roosevelt of his intention to relinquish his post. They say he does not desire to remain even if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected to a third term.

During his several years service as American envoy to the court of St. James' Kennedy has achieved considerable popularity among British officialdom and has frequently been taken into the councils of English statesmen, particularly since the outbreak of the European war.

WILL RETURN TO BUSINESS

Although Kennedy has been mentioned as a possible successor to James A. Farley as chairman of the Democratic national committee, his friends doubt he would accept. One of the nation's top-flight industrial executives prior to joining the New Deal ranks as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Kennedy desires to return to private business.

His associates report that he has made considerable financial sacrifice during his seven-year career as head of the SEC and later the Maritime Commission and during his stay in London.

SEPARATED FROM FAMILY

Another reason for his desire to quit the diplomatic service is the fact that he is separated from his family.

It is possible that the President may induce Kennedy to remain until after the election. The ambassador, however, has told his intimates he feels he has stayed in London far longer than he originally intended.

He also is convinced that he has done everything possible to cement Anglo-American relations.

Sunken Italian

Warship's Chief Dies

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 24 (AP)—Capt. Umberto Navarro, commander of the Italian cruiser Bartolomeo Colleoni, sunk last Friday off Crete, died of wounds today aboard a British hospital ship. He will be accorded full naval honors at a funeral today.

Secret Parley On To Map War Stand Of Pan-Americans

HAVANA, July 24 (AP)—Three major commissions of the conference of the 21 American republics were called into secret session today as the delegates hoped for speedy agreement on methods of dealing with western hemisphere problems.

They planned to conclude the conference July 30, unless some emergency arises. Rio Janeiro was considered a certain choice for their next meeting.

Already in the hands of the commissions were the United States' suggestions of colonial mandates and economic co-operation. Other proposals, including methods of dealing with fifth column activities, were expected to be offered today for preliminary study.

HULL LEADS PEACE STUDY

The commission on maintenance of peace, headed by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, had before it a proposal to set up "collective trusteeship" over western hemisphere colonies of European nations in the event of any attempt by another non-American state to acquire them.

The first draft of this resolution provides such a joint mandate would be shared in only by ratifying republics and would operate when any nation saw its security threatened.

A committee including one representative from each ratifying nation would exercise the trusteeship but would vest authority in a commission including one member each of three countries selected on geographical, economic and strategic considerations.

The general committee would determine whatever military or naval assistance was needed.

The draft made clear that only temporary control was contemplated, with eventual return of the colonies to their original sovereigns or ultimate independence.

Before the economic commission were the United States suggestions for curing the American continent's economic ills.

TEXTS WITHHELD

Because of the possibility of drastic revision, texts of the proposals were withheld on the ground that they represented only working drafts and the final products would emerge as recommendations of the commission, headed by Eduardo Suarez of Mexico.

The neutrality commission, headed by Leopoldo Melo of Argentina, expected to receive a sub-committee's report co-ordinating resolutions affecting inter-American neutrality.

These resolutions, submitted by the Inter-American Neutrality Commission which has been working in Rio De Janeiro since the Pan-American meeting of last October, were said to involve treatment of belligerent submarines and auxiliary ships found operating in American waters, internment of belligerent vessels and communications between belligerents.

Secretary Hull conferred privately yesterday with the Argentine delegation, which was reported to be taking a hesitant attitude regarding any broad commitments, fearing an adverse effect on Argentina's future trade relations with Mexico.

KING, CHURCHILL CONFER

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—King George talked with Prime Minister Winston Churchill for about a half-hour last night and also received Sir Cyril Newall, chief of the air staff.

'Too Tired to Live,' Mother Takes Life

"James—I am too tired to live.—Gladys."

Thus a cryptic, six-word message summarized the tragedy of a young Medford mother, found dead today in her kitchen when her husband returned home.

WAR-TIME MEALS

Oatmeal Suggested at Chicken Spread

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—Malcolm Macdonald Minister of Health, speaking at a luncheon today, said a well-balanced wartime meal would be four ounces of bread, two-thirds of an ounce of oatmeal, half an ounce of fats, five ounces of potatoes, two ounces of green vegetables and one-fifth of a pint of milk.

The menu of the luncheon included hors d'oeuvres, chicken, sherbet and coffee.

AMNESIA FATHER IN JOYFUL REUNION

GLOUCESTER, July 24—To the family of Joseph Reday of Rockport, immigrant Hungarian, came joys during the past six years which would have made any father immeasurably happy and proud, but all were denied him.

He failed to see his older son, Joseph, Jr., graduate from Annapolis; he couldn't attend the graduation of his second son, Ladislav, from M. I. T.; he missed the marriage of his only daughter, Louise, to Arthur E. Alto of Gloucester; he never knew he had become the grandfather of a charming baby girl, Louise's daughter Diane.

But the thrill of realizing all these events at once will be his within a few days at a family reunion in Arlington, Va., near the town where Reday, a victim of amnesia, appealed for police assistance.

No one knows the extent of the 67-year-old man's wanderings, his ups and downs, his many bewildering discouragements since he set forth from Rockport six years ago to look for work in New York.

His family never heard another word from him until he groped his way to the Henrico, Va., police station and asked Sheriff T. Nelson Seay to help him recall his identity. Somewhere in his dawning consciousness, Reday recollected having a wife and three children in this Cape Ann port.

City Marshal Winfred J. Ellis of Gloucester received a photograph and newspaper clippings concerning Reday's affliction of amnesia. A check with Miss Ora Davidson, clerk in City Clerk Allen F. Grant's office, located the record of Miss Reday's marriage.

Mrs. Alto immediately recognized the picture of her father and wired the good news to her mother, who is making her home with Ensign Reday, the elder son, in Arlington, Va.—only ten minutes by auto from Henrico.

With her daughter, the grandchild whom the lost man had never seen, Mrs. Alto will leave for a family reunion in the Virginia town, she said today.

600 Million Rise In Nation's Debt

WASHINGTON, July 24 (INS)—The national debt rose approximately $600,000,000 today to a record high of $43,712,951,948.

The increase was due to sale of government bonds for the purpose of replenishing the treasury's working balance, which now totals $1,591,059,055. This balance had fallen below the billion dollar mark.

Carol Stone to Wed Hub Heir

Cupid winked a persuasive eye today as announcement came that Carol Stone, 22, actress daughter of Fred Stone, stage and movie star, and Robert W. McCahon, 26, son of a prominent Brookline lumberman, will be married after all, and with everyone happy.

Some mystery had clung to the first report of the couple's plans, made a month ago by Actor Stone himself from New York. For when the prospective bridegroom's father, Thomas J. McCahon, was apprised of it, he was quoted as saying:

"Don't you believe it."

Scout Saves Life of Niece

Scoutmaster Samuel Arnold's good deed for the day saved his little niece's life today.

Lying in her crib, four-weeks-old Sharon Galied of Townsend st., Roxbury, began to choke and gasp for breath.

Her frightened mother called police and the baby's uncle, Samuel Arnold, scoutmaster of Troop 13, who was asleep in a hammock on the porch.

Arnold took his niece by the feet, turned her upside down, slapping and massaging her back. Presently she began to breathe normally again.

Police, arriving on the scene in a few moments, said Arnold had saved the girl from choking to death.

220,000 British Children Shifted

LYONDON, July 24 (AP)—Health Minister Malcolm Macdonald said today that 220,000 school children had been removed to rural counties from London and towns along the northeast coast in the past six weeks.

The odor of escaping gas was noticed by James Warren, the husband, as soon as he entered his house in Fulton st., Medford, shortly after midnight.

Forcing his way into the kitchen, he discovered his 31-year-old wife slumped in a beach chair near the gas range. Fumes were escaping from open jets, all doors and windows had been stuffed with paper.

Frantically he called the police for help, then raced upstairs to the crib of his year-old daughter, Jeanette. The baby was sleeping peacefully, undisturbed even by an infant's premonition of danger to its mother.

Two police cars and fire apparatus arrived at the Warren home with inhalators but rescue workers were unsuccessful in attempts to revive the young matron after two hours' work. She was pronounced dead by Dr. David S. Izra.

The note, found by Warren at his wife's side, was turned over to Dr. J. Stanley Miles, medical examiner, who later returned a verdict of suicide.

For several years before her marriage, Mrs. Warren had been employed as a nurse at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford, and despite her household duties and motherhood she had attempted occasionally to continue her nursing work.

In recent months, police quoted her husband as saying, she had appeared overtired and in ill health.

HUB MAN WINS LAW POST

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—Harold B. Doyle of Youngstown, O., was elected president of the Commercial Law League of America at the organization's 46th annual convention. Alfred J. Blake of Boston was elected secretary.

HIS FIRST AID SAVES BABY

SCOUTMASTER'S GOOD DEED—When four-weeks-old Sharon Galied of Roxbury was seized with a coughing spell, her Scoutmaster uncle, Samuel Arnold, ran to the rescue, held her upside down, patted her back. By the time police and firemen arrived baby Sharon was happy, like this, in the arms of her uncle.

MRS. EARL WINFIELD SPENCER

Sues Wally's Ex for Divorce, Asks $100 Monthly

WALLY'S 1ST MATE SUED FOR DIVORCE

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 24 (AP)—The first husband of the Duchess of Windsor, Commander Earl Winfield Spencer, U. S. N., retired, was to go to court today with his third wife for a hearing of their divorce action.

POLL LAW CHANGE ASKED

MONTPELIER, Vt., July 24—The Vermont legislature was called for a special session today to amend the primary laws so that an election may be held on Sept. 10 to fill the vacancy in the U. S. Senate caused by the death of Sen. Ernest W. Gibson.

Mrs. Spencer, the former Norma Reese Johnson, widow of a Detroit manufacturer, declares her income is insufficient for her needs and asks $100 a month from Spencer's pension of $343.33 a month. He contends her $75,000 fortune is adequate for her.

Comdr. Spencer

Both charge cruelty and Mrs. Spencer alleges that in addition that her husband is habitually intemperate. They were married in Los Angeles three years ago and separated last Feb. 9, the day before Spencer's suit was filed.

It was while married to Spencer that the Duchess of Windsor first met the then Prince of Wales, later King Edward VIII of England, at Coronado, Cal. She and Spencer were divorced in 1927 and she later married Ernest Simpson, London shipping executive. Spencer also married again and was divorced by Mrs. Miriam J. Spencer in 1935.

He had known his present wife, the widow of Homer Sturtevant Johnson, 15 years before their marriage. Spencer is 48 and his wife 47.

Governor Aids Girl Air Hiker

Successful in her plan to obtain Gov. Saltonstall's autograph—although she presented a bottle of wine for the signature—a Hollywood girl today waited for an airplane "hitch" to Maine.

The aerial hitch-hiker is Eleanor H. Fogwist, 27, who is traveling the country to obtain signature of the President and 48 governors to a copy of the Bill of Rights, which she intends to present to the Library of Congress.

During her travels of 30,000 miles from state to state, she has offered each governor and President Roosevelt a small bottle of blackberry wine. Not until she met Gov. Saltonstall, however, was the wine accepted. It was added to the stock of medicines at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Czech Minister Quits Hub; Predicts British Victory

Full confidence that Great Britain will resist the long awaited blitzkrieg and eventually defeat her enemies, was expressed today by Czechoslovakia's Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, previous to his departure from Boston to Washington today.

In Washington he is expected to seek recognition of the new Czech government recognized by Britain July 21.

Accompanied by Col. Vladimir S. Hurban, minister to the United States, and his wife, the Czechoslovakian representatives have been guests during the past few days at the Weston estate of Mrs. Lincoln Filene.

Before boarding an American Airlines plane for the nation's capital, at East Boston airport, Foreign Minister Masaryk, whose government is temporarily located in London, said:

SEES BRITAIN WIN

"I have the fullest confidence that Great Britain with her immense sea and land power plus the Royal Air Force will be victorious.

"The recent so-called peace plan offered by Hitler to the English government was nothing more than an order to surrender and a psychological move to frighten or break the high morale of loyal Britons."

Asked if the delay by Germany in staging its well publicized invasion of the British Isles had any military significance, Masaryk replied:

THINKS HITLER HIT SNAG

"There is no question in my mind but Hitler has run into great difficulties in the execution of his proposed plans for quick invasion and capture of the British Isles.

"His plans, no doubt, were launched and shortly after hit a snag. This has been more or less a moral victory for England."

Foreign Minister Masaryk expressed hope his government would be re-established. He refused to make any comment relative to the United States and her aid to the Allies or on present political conditions.

His mono-plane striking electric wires along Hampton Beach, N. H., boulevard, Lieut. Raoul J. Bourgoin, U. S. Army flier, crashed to his death while returning to Langley Field, Va., after visiting his parents in Maine. Here, U. S. Marines guard parachute and other effects thrown from the crashing plane.

FATAL ARMY PLANE CRASH UNDER PROBE

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., July 24—A probe of the Army airplane crash which killed Second Lieut. Raoul J. Bourgoin of the Eighth Pursuit Group, Langley Field, Va., was carried on here today by Capt. Milton Murray from the East Boston Army air corps detachment.

Nine witnesses told the investigating officer how Bourgoin's speedy Curtiss low-wing P-36 monoplane swept low from a heavy fog, severed electric power wires, struck the gable of a cottage, then plunged into marsh mud nearly half a mile beyond.

The plane's motor and other fragments of the machine were buried deep in the mud. Rescue crews of police and Coast Guard found the flier's body lying several yards away. A metal wrist band led to his identification.

Bourgoin, 25, a former University of Maine athlete, left the Caribou, Me., airport shortly before noon after loading his plane with 90-gallons of gas. His ship was reported in excellent condition by airport attendants.

According to four eyewitnesses, Anne Tarkay, 27; her sister, Josephine, 23; Alice Merolla, 24, and Josephine D'Arco, 28, all of Providence, R. I., who were watching from a nearby cottage, the undercarriage of the plane broke through electric and telephone wires crossing the boulevard, came off the gable of the Overlook cottage and finally plunged into the marsh 500 yards away.

Five Greater Boston girls occupying Overlook Cottage, felt the building shake when it was struck by the plane. They were Helen McCarthy, 25, and Mary Murphy, 22, of Yeomans ave.; Thelma Pechall, 22, Lambert st.; and Dorothy Mulcahy, 21, Spring st., all of Medford and Alba Angelli, 22, of West st., Malden.

DESTROYERS SHIFT

RIO GRANDE DO SUL, Brazil, July 24 (AP)—The United States destroyers Walke and Wainwright arrived here today from Rio De Janeiro to stay until Monday.

A total of 471 sacks of mail for France, including parcel post, registered and ordinary matter from Boston and other New England cities, were lost at sea when the Belgian steamer Ville de Namur was sunk last month, according to a report by postoffice officials.

The lost ship sailed from New York for Bordeaux June 7. The Ville de Namur was formerly the American Merchant, owned by the United States Line.

Dope Thieves Get Poison Instead

Dope thieves who entered a Newton animal hospital to steal narcotics are in possession of a large amount of deadly poison instead, Newton police warned today in a teletype broadcast to Greater Boston stations.

The intruders broke into the hospital in Beacon st., Newton Center, during the night. They succeeded in finding a small quantity of morphine, it was revealed, but most of their haul consisted of a large amount of apomorphine.

According to Dr. Richard Schofield, director of the hospital, the apomorphine is so powerful that it would have a dangerous and possibly lethal effect on any person using it.

Dr. Schofield described the substance as a white tablet containing 20 times the normal dose for a human being.

N. E. Mail on Lost Belgian Steamer

Fr. Coughlin Resumes in Fall

DETROIT, July 24 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin announced today he would resume his Sunday afternoon radio broadcasts October 13.

A series of half-hour programs will consider, "Among Other Things," a discussion of the principles and personalities involved in the presidential campaign, the priest said.

Fr. Coughlin said it was "a little too early" to determine what presidential candidate would receive his support.

Woodring May Head Anti-3d Term Group

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 24—Regular Democrats who oppose President Roosevelt's re-election today shied away from well-known New Deal foes to seek a new figure as leader of their anti-third-term campaign.

WILLKIE CHEERED IN UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, July 24 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, "refreshed and delighted" over yesterday's rodeo at Cheyenne, arrived here by plane early this morning. He went to cheerings crowds at the airport.

On the drive to his hotel, several cars pulled alongside his and the drivers attempted to hold shouted conversations. A post-midnight crowd applauded Willkie as he entered his hotel.

In Cheyenne last night Willkie posted off his coat and told a dinner gathering of Wyoming Republicans:

"I insist that the throttle hold of 'big government' be removed from our legislatures, our courts and our business."

NO BRAIN TRUSTERS

Party leaders from every Wyoming county heard the Republican nominee declare last night he was determined the leadership of the country "shall not be resolved by corporate wealth or political wealth in the form of political machines." The nominee said that if he were elected there would be "no brain trusters in back rooms" writing "melodious speeches."

Willkie attended the dinner before boarding an airplane for Salt Lake City and visits to rodeos at Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah. At the start of the dinner, he took off his coat and several hundred other men followed suit. The mercury had gone to 97 degrees earlier in the day while Willkie was attending the opening of the Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo.

GOVERNMENT FOR PEOPLE

"The rights of liberty are going out one by one in Europe, and the only way to keep them burning brightly here in America is under a leadership that believes in America," Willkie said.

"We must build an economic system subject to reasonable social control but build one that will function."

"This government belongs to the people and we are going to return it to them."

On leaving the Masonic temple, where the dinner was held, Willkie told a crowd waiting outside:

"If you elect me President I pledge you this great democracy never will be destroyed by insidious attacks."

"Join us in this great crusade. We must keep lit this torch of democracy."

Long Illness Fatal To Sen. Davis' Wife

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The office of Senator James J. Davis, announced today the death in Atlantic City of Mrs. Jeanette Davis, wife of the Pennsylvania senator.

She had been suffering from heart disease for eight months, aides of the senator said. The Davises were married in 1914 and had five children: James, Jr., Jane, Joan, Julie and Jean.

Annenberg Starts 3-Year Prison Term

LEWISBURG, Pa., July 24 (INS)—Moses L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher was at the Lewisburg penitentiary today to begin serving his three year term or evasion of federal income taxes. He came by auto from Chicago, where he surrendered.

He was whisked into the prison through the rear door, to escape newspapermen who were waiting at the regular entrance.

Rumors prevail that former Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring of Kansas or former Rep. Samuel B. Pettengill of Indiana will be asked to head the movement. Both are opposed to the third term and both names are under discussion by congressional Democrats who wish to see Roosevelt defeated.

JITTERY OVER SMITH

The anti-third-termers on Capitol Hill are jittery about letting either Alfred E. Smith, defeated Democratic nominee of 1928, or former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri head their opposition. With former Democratic Chairman John J. Raskob and former Democratic Executive Director J. M. Thouse joining Smith to fight the third term, congressional anti-third-termers fear their movement may become confused with the old Liberty League attack on Roosevelt.

The same reasoning applies to former Sen. Reed, who has fought the New Deal since its inception.

Sen. Wheeler of Montana is the congressional favorite to lead the third-term opposition, but has declined to serve. On the contrary, Wheeler says:

"I'm a Democrat and will support the Democratic ticket."

TURN TO WOODRING

Wheeler, a candidate for re-election to the Senate this year, however, is not expected to give the Roosevelt ticket much support. He may vote for it, but his friends say he certainly will not campaign for it.

With Wheeler out of it, talk turned to Woodring and Pettengill. Woodring frequently voiced his opposition to a third term before leaving the cabinet.

The Jeffersonian Democrats, meanwhile, will organize Thursday, in Chicago.

92 TREMONT ST., 3RD FLOOR
West of Tremont Temple. Phone LAF. 9633

By long-distance telephone the Maddison family, of 25 Norman st., Melrose, winners of the Typical American Family in Massachusetts Contest, related today to the Boston Evening American the thrills and enjoyment they are receiving daily at the New York World's Fair.

The Melrose family which includes Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Maddison, a daughter Barbara, 17, and son Frederick, 15, were awarded a week's all expenses paid trip to the Gotham exposition grounds.

LIVE ON GROUNDS

While in New York the Bay Staters are occupying the typical American family F. H. A. home, located in the fair grounds. They are provided with free meals and maid service during their stay. The F. H. A. home was completely furnished by Sears Roebuck & Co.

It was during the Melrose family's visit to the Bell Telephone exhibit that phone officials invited Mr. Maddison to call the Boston Evening American editorial office. Several hundred persons gathered at the exhibit were also invited to join in and listen to the father of the typical family being interviewed by James F. McEnaney of the Boston Evening American editorial staff, on his experiences in the "big city," and the World's Fair.

"We are having a grand time here at the fair, were the opening remarks of Mr. Maddison.

"Everybody has been more than nice to us and it seems as though we are living in an entirely different world.

"No matter what we want to see or do arrangements are immediately made and our desires are satisfied."

MEET OTHER WINNERS

Reporter McEnaney asked the Melrose contractor if he had visitors at his "home for the week" and the reply was:

"The first visitors we had were the three other winning typical Massachusetts families. The family of Walter B. Morse of Middleton, second prize winners called a short time after their arrival at the fair, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Williamson, of Brockton, third prize winners and a son Lloyd, arrived at our typical home along with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Barnes, of South Weymouth and their two children.

"It seemed as though we were staging a real old-fashioned Yankee reunion. We were glad to welcome the other winners and we all had a grand time conversing with each other and swapping experiences."

Today the Maddison family are guests of Harvey D. Gibson, of the World's Fair board of directors, aboard his private yacht. A trip up the Hudson and around Manhattan has been scheduled and also a luncheon served aboard the palatial yacht.

The other Bay State family winners will remain in New York for three days, while the first prize winners will remain until Monday and then be taken back to Boston in a new Ford V-8 furnished by the Ford Motor Co.

Now They're Fire Lassies

When a fire breaks out in the Campbell home in Green st., Watertown, there's no fooling around with it, not with Helen and Margaret in the house.

A blaze broke out in the kitchen of the home early today and the smoke awoke pretty Helen, 18, and Margaret, 16.

Without awakening their parents or their two brothers and a sister, they got out of bed and put out the fire with buckets of water from the sink.

Then they called their father, Timothy, who notified the Watertown fire department, just in case. The firemen tore down the kitchen wall to be sure no embers were smoldering in it.

Daladier to Face War Blame Probe

VICHY, France, July 24 (AP)—Former Premier Edouard Daladier, whose government declared war on Germany last fall, was confined within the city of Marseille today under orders of the new Petain-Laval regime, marked for "investigation" and possible punishment for alleged responsibility for France's entry into the conflict and for her defeat.

BRITISH OIL PLANT SEIZED

EUCHARIST, July 24 (AP)—The Rumanian government today confiscated the largest British oil concern in Rumania, the Astra-Romans Oil Company, jointly owned by British and Dutch interests.

Oil Commissioner Gheron Netu appointed one of his deputies to run the company for the government.

A government order asserted that the concern, a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell, had failed to supply "information on production" as required by Rumanian law.

Under the terms of a recent oil decree the Rumanian government now may send the company's production to Germany for use by the Nazi armies. Since the start of the war the Astra-Romans company refused steadfastly to ship oil to the Reich.

United States oil men said the action against Astra-Romans does not affect American interests, although they acknowledged a precedent had been created which might be used against any oil concerns in the future.

BUDAPEST, July 24 (AP)—All Budapest newspapers displayed prominently today apparently inspired dispatches from Bucharest quoting political circles there as saying that Rumania "will shortly begin discussions regarding fulfillment of Hungary's territorial claims."

Hungary has been demanding return of the rich border province of Transylvania, which she lost to Rumania in settlements after the World War.

ARMY IN OVERALLS TO BE MASSED BY U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—The Social Security Board set out today to marshal an "army in overalls" for defense industries.

Instructions went to all State employment security agencies for a sweeping inventory of the entire country's labor supply and demand situation.

The action was taken after the National Defense Commission and the Security Board accepted a series of recommendations made by the board's federal advisory council for employment security. The recommendations dealt with the contributions public employment services could make to the preparedness program.

The 4500 full and part-time public employment offices in the country were advised to check immediately with all employers on their present and prospective labor requirements.

Employers are to be requested not to seek labor competitively or outside the immediate locality. Job priority and preference would be given to citizens and those with first citizen papers.

Air Raid Scare Stirrs Rome

ROME, July 24 (AP)—Anti-aircraft guns of Rome blazed into action shortly before dawn today to ward off a raid. Reports from the naval base at Gaeta, near Naples had indicated that British warplanes were heading toward the capital.

Twice, the Italian high command said, the anti-aircraft batteries sent up barrages over the city, no bombs were dropped. It was stated but several persons were injured by falling shell fragments.

Gaeta is about 75 miles south of the capital.

British Fascists Under Curfew Ban

Draft Training To Start Sept. 1

informative, pending action of Congress.

Some states, however, have started preparing lists of doctors, lawyers and other civilians needed to register and classify the 11,000,000 odd young men between 21 and 31 who probably will be the first enrolled. Maps have been drawn to show registration areas.

Every state draft organization long since has received copies of the registration forms which will be used, barring change by Congress. These can be handed to printers for quantity production at a moment's notice.

The army's present schedule calls for the first 400,000 trainees to be inducted into the ranks on Oct. 1. The selective service machinery would require a minimum of 30 days to examine.

MAY TRAIN MORE

Under existing plans an additional 400,000 young men out of the 11,000,000 pool would be summoned for service on April 1, 1941, and perhaps another 600,000 the following Oct. 1.

If world conditions grow worse, however, army officials said that "we might have to train more." If Congress passes the bill as late as Aug. 15, said an official of the selective service committee, registration easily might take place Sept. 1.

If authority is given by Congress, the National Guard possibly will be mobilized about the same date, the army high command has indicated. The army's training plan is based on guard mobilization.

BRITISH SUB SUNK BY BOMBS

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Destruction of a British submarine, two patrol boats, a mine sweeper and two large merchant ships was claimed by the German high command today as Adolf Hitler's generals waited for the word to begin the long-expected attack on Britain.

The high command also declared that Nazi bombers had wrought extensive damage in southern England yesterday, hitting several rail lines and roads, as well as reserve barracks.

London authoritative quarters, commenting on German claim that Nazi bombers "hit important rail and road objectives in England," said today: "German raids over the 24 hours in question were so slight that British authorities found it unnecessary to issue any communique on the subject."—Editor's Note.

The Nazi communique claimed the destruction of three British planes during the R. A. F. raids over northern and western Germany last night. The raiders did little damage, the high command declared.

DNR, official German news agency, said the British submarine was attacked in the North sea off Aberdeen, Scotland, by a plane which dived to within 250 feet of the water before dropping three bombs.

One hit the submarine near its conning tower, DNR said, and a few minutes later the boat nosed down, leaving a widening smear of oil on the water.

One German plane was lost in yesterday's raiding activities, the high command said.

Meanwhile as Germany got ready for the decisive assault on the British Isles, her diplomats undertook a program of "constructive diplomacy" to insure peace in the southeast.

Chinese Guerrillas Attack Jap Forces

HONGKONG, July 24 (AP)—Chinese guerrillas and regulars fought a pitched battle today with the Japanese forces which a month ago occupied a strip of mainland adjacent to the British Crown colony of Hongkong.

The Chinese attacked in force at dawn. By mid-afternoon, witnesses said, Japanese artillery had forced the attack to retreat, but fighting continued 20 miles north of the center of Hongkong.

NEW HELP FOR FOLKS OVER 40

Who "Feel Old" From Lack of Iron & Vitamin B₁₂

A large number of people over 40 do not get enough iron to make red blood cells and they also fail to get enough vital Vitamin B₁₂. As a result, their cells are in poor health. They have little energy or appetite. They sleep restlessly and often develop certain types of nervousness and neuritis. Their blood is thin. They have a shortage of Vitamin B₁₂ already may affect the glands, stomach, intestines and other organs.

Men and women over 40 can now obtain extra iron and extra Vitamin B₁₂ by taking delicious "ENRICH," a new liquid which is helping thousands who formerly felt played out and tired from insufficient iron and Vitamin B₁₂. Just to show you how much iron and Vitamin B₁₂ is in ENRICH read this:

You would have to eat 3½ pounds of beef, steak or 7 lbs. of steak (or, Trout Tongue) to get the same amount of iron daily as in ONE OUNCE OF ENRICH. And besides you would have to eat 14 pounds of liver's yeast every day to get the same Vitamin B₁₂ now obtained daily from ENRICH.

ENRICH tastes good and often produces an amazing improvement in a short time. Costs but a few cents a day; contains no alcohol or stimulant drugs. There are no harmful effects. Gives satisfaction or money refunded.

Britain Sets Nazi Plane Loss at 4000

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—Germany has lost 4000 to 5000 planes since the war began, British sources asserted today in support of a claim that Britain gradually is overhauling Germany in the race for control of the skies.

The Royal Air Force is gaining power steadily through more than doubled home production plus increased American deliveries, these sources said, although conceding that German mass production probably has raised the Nazis' numerical strength higher than at the outset of hostilities.

Estimates last September placed the German air force of first line warplanes at 5000 to 6000, as compared with Britain's 3000 to 4000.

Reuters, British news agency, said well-informed London circles figured German production of planes is being maintained "at about around 1500 a month" and added:

"That is a figure which Britain may be said today to be rapidly approaching, although she has yet . . . to overhaul it."

The British admitted that by the end of summer the air battles so far fought may appear insignificant but pointed to their balance sheet of the first month of daily engagements and the start of the second.

Reuters said since June 17, when Germany launched mass air attacks against England, the plane losses compiled from official British records gave this score:

German planes shot down, 133; British, 91.

The Nazi Luftwaffe (air force) losses were given as 92 bombers, chiefly Heinkel 111's, Dornier 17's and Junkers 88's and 87's, and 41 fighters, Messerschmitt 109's and 107's.

Royal Air Force losses were given as 69 bombers and 22 fighters.

British estimated that 400 German airmen were killed or captured from June 17 to July 17.

British Aircraft Down Nazi Raider

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—"An enemy bomber was shot down by fighters of the Royal Air Force off the Welsh coast this morning," the Air Ministry announced.

Another German airplane was reported shot down while attacking shipping off the southeast coast of England. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was heard along the coast.

Making LITTLE ONES out of BIG ONES

As every fisherman knows, filleting fish is an art. When there are hundreds of thousands of pounds to be filleted daily, it's a big business, too.

At 40-Fathom, a just-landed fish is transformed into gleaming white filets in the twinkling of an eye. Skilled cutters with razor-sharp knives and ingenious electrical machines work at stainless steel filleting tables. A conveyor belt keeps production moving so smoothly that only minutes elapse before the filets are washed, wrapped in cellophane and packaged.

The speed, sanitation and efficiency of the 40-Fathom plant on the Boston Fish Pier have made it a recognized model for the industry.

Vom Rath Killer, Munich Plotter Seized

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Otto Strasser, exiled foe of Nazism, who is charged by the Gestapo with organizing the Munich bomb plot on the life of Adolf Hitler, and Herschel Grynszpan, a young Polish Jew who killed a German diplomat in Paris, were reported today to have fallen into German hands.

They were said to have been taken in the German conquest of France.

A well-informed German source said Grynszpan was found in La Sante prison in Paris, where he had been pending trial for the 1935 slaying of Ernst Vom Rath, secretary of the German embassy there.

Widespread anti-Semitic disorders, marked by looting and the burning of synagogues, broke out in Germany as a result of Vom Rath's death and Nazis assessed German Jewry $400,000,000 in fines. The German informant said that Hermann Rauschning, once president of the Nazi Senate, who broke with Hitler and in exile carried on anti-Nazi writing, was in London at the time the Germans conquered France.

The source, describing the taking of Strasser as a "valuable haul," did not give details of his capture.

Strasser was deprived of German citizenship in March, 1934, and thereafter his anti-Nazi Black Front organ, "Deutsche Revolution," appeared secretly in Berlin.

Japanese Not 'Anti-American'

SHANGHAI, July 24 (AP)—A Japanese embassy spokesman today described a series of incidents involving United States citizens since July 7 as "an unfortunate coincidence from which it cannot be concluded that Japan is adopting an anti-American attitude."

Declaring "it is the duty of newspapermen to keep calm and cool," he said telegram sent to President Roosevelt yesterday by five American newsmen—who urged retaliatory acts against Japan unless Tokyo acted to restrain Japanese elements in Shanghai—gave a false impression that anti-American sentiment was growing among Japanese.

Hallett Abend, correspondent of the New York Times who recently was beaten and robbed of manuscripts in his apartment, declared that a Japanese, accompanied by a Chinese, attempted to enter his office this morning on the pretext that he had phoned them to fix his typewriter. Policemen guarding the office refused them entry.

Can Get 'Em Up in the Morning With This Bed

SEATTLE, July 24 (AP)—Invention of an air-conditioned bed was announced today at the University of Washington.

The bed warms a person in winter and cools him in summer. He dials his own weather for the night with a knob at the head of the bed.

An air-cushion under him and a new form of air-blanket over him makes this possible.

The air-cushion affords, furthermore, another easily installed possibility. If father won't get up when called, mother downstairs may press a button and pop goes father's air-cushion.

The inventor, Dr. F. K. Kirsten, famous aeronautical engineer, estimates that the new bed can be manufactured for less cost than present high-class beds.

Lords in Secret Parley on War

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—The House of Lords met today in secret session to debate the Churchill government's foreign policy.

The House went into secret session on the motion of Dominions Secretary Viscount Caidcott over protests of Baron Addison, Laborite, whose questions on foreign policy had brought on debate.

The most recent dissension in Parliament on foreign affairs has been caused by what some of the members described as the "shameful" agreement with Japan to close the Burma road.

3500 N. E. HOMES FOR WAR ORPHANS

Homes in New England for more than 3500 war refugee children have been obtained during the last month by the Boston Evening American, working in co-operation with the Daily Record and Sunday Advertiser.

They are the homes of families which have answered these newspapers' appeal and have volunteered to shelter Europe's evacuated children, either permanently or for the duration of the conflict.

The name and address of every family are now in the care of the British embassy in Washington and the various American officials and agencies which are assisting in the task of placing the youngsters as they reach our shores.

The purpose is to give a child to every responsible person who has applied for one as soon as the British government can make satisfactory arrangements to transport the young subjects here in sufficiently large numbers.

Similarly, every additional offer to care for a child received by the American Record and Advertiser will be quickly forwarded to the proper authorities.

It is estimated that more than 20,000 British children are awaiting passage to the United States and Canada. And this number does not include the many thousands of French, Dutch, Belgian, Polish and Norwegian children who fled with their parents to England when their own lands were invaded.

Typical letters in today's mid-

SOMERVILLE—"I believe the Red Cross should be allowed to send ships into marine combat zones to bring children from Britain to the United States. We all know the little ones are anxious to come here. But because England lacks vessels, thousands of the children are compelled to stay at home and risk death in bombardments.

"Moreover, their situation is bound to be horrible, no matter how the war ends. The famine and disease epidemics that will follow the cessation of hostilities will probably kill hundreds.

"I don't see how any dictator could be so cruel as to sink a ship carrying a cargo of children too young to start wars, but too young to share the misfortunes that result from wholesale death and destruction.

"My wife and I will gladly take three children for the duration of conflict. If the children's parents are dead, we will adopt the youngsters. The age and sex are not important. Our aim is to save the little ones' lives."

ARLINGTON—"My husband and I will be very happy to adopt two war orphans, a girl and a boy. We have a son 10 years of age, and he would also enjoy having a sister and brother.

"We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to you for the wonderful thought and good work in bringing about this movement to find American homes for Europe's endangered children.

"We know that not only will it save many children, but also it will bring happiness to many childless homes."

NORTH YASSALBORO, ME.—"We would like very much to adopt a little English girl between the ages of one and two years. We have a little boy of three.

"We can give the child a good home and education, as well as the love of a brother and fond parents."

Saloon Used As Church Now

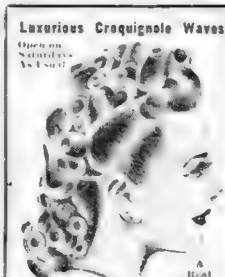

TROUT RIVER, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—A former saloon in this Canadian border town is being used as a church by virtue of being the only place where both Americans and Canadians can congregate.

The international border runs the room in half, so Americans sit on one side and Canadians on the other.

New U. S. passport regulations bar Canadians without passports from crossing the line, so Father J. C. Heslin on the American side made his move when he found his congregation shrinking.

HAWAII—famous island of legend, beauty and fabulous fortunes made from sugar and pineapple plantations—is the scene this month of two outstanding weddings . . . both of which are of great interest to Boston society . . .

A couple of weeks ago Joan Tozzer became the bride of Philip Spalding, Jr. . . . thus linking together two of the island's wealthiest families . . . Joan's home has been in Cambridge where her father is a professor at Harvard, but her grandmother is matriarch of the family which controls a large portion of the pineapple industry in Hawaii . . .

Next week on July 31st, Elizabeth Dillingham, heiress to a portion of the Dillingham sugar plantation fortune, will be married to Myron Wick, Jr. . . . With this marriage Elizabeth is going outside the small circle of Hawaii's first families, for Myron is the son of a prominent Cleveland family, and his father is a nationally known steel executive . . .

The bride's brothers, Benjamin, Gaylord and Lowell Dillingham, all well known in Boston social circles—having attended Harvard, played in Hasty Pudding shows and on the Harvard polo team, and beamed many Beantown society girls—will be ushers at the wedding . . . The bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Ladd, Jr., of Milton, will both be in the bridal party and Myron's former Hasty Pudding pals, Francis Goodhue, Woods McCall and Cammann Newberry, who with Gappy Bacon and Ben Welles composed most of the music for the 1937 Pudding show, will be ushers . . .

Several of the bride's classmates at Sarah Lawrence College, which she attended last winter, will be in the large group of bridesmaids, and Marjorie Erdman of Honolulu will perform most of the honor duties . . .

The ceremony in St. Andrew's Church will be followed by a reception at "Lapietra," Diamond Head, the estate of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham . . . Unlike the young Philip Spalding who are making their home on the island, Mr. Wick and his bride will reside on Park ave., New York City . . .

North Shore society, and skiers in particular, are interested in the report that Mrs. Dudley Wolfe has returned from Europe with a new hubby . . . He's a Scandinavian, and like most of his countrymen, has a tongue-twister of a name and is an expert skier . . .

Mrs. Wolfe is an ardent skier herself . . . having coached the U. S. Women's Olympic ski team in Switzerland . . . The former Alice Damrosch, daughter of Walter Damrosch, famous conductor, she was married in Switzerland in 1934 to the late Dudley Wolfe, wealthy Boston yachtsman . . . Mr. Wolfe was killed in a tragic mountain climbing accident in India last August, about a year following his divorce from Alice . . .

The newlyweds are said to be motoring up the New England coast to Bar Harbor, visiting friends along the way . . .

Most of the gay international flags and bunting will be missing from the grandstand at Longwood Cricket Club during tennis week in August . . . for, due to the war, very few European tennis stars are enrolled for the national doubles tournament . . . But committee members, under the capable direction of Irving Wright, president of the club, are doing their utmost to plan a lively program to partially compensate for the absence of the Australian, British, Czech and French champs who added so much to the competition in previous years . . .

Mrs. George Wightman is chairman of the ladies' committee for the week, which begins Aug. 19 . . . and assisting her are Mrs. Herbert Bramwell Shaw, Virginia Ellis, Mrs. Melvin M. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Walker, Dorothy Wightman and Mrs. Samuel Fitch . . .

Lending a helping hand to Mr. Wright are Herbert B. Shaw who, as entertainment chairman of the club, is in charge of the dance for visiting players at the clubhouse on Friday evening of tennis week

INSTEAD OF PUSHING HER SUN GLASSES back on her head like the old farmers in cartoons, Sally Cole "parks" hers in her mouth as she watches a charity fair on the North Shore. With her are Lee Schofield and Hugh Ober, North Shore youngsters who had enjoyed a merry ride in Sally's new bentam roadster, a graduation present last June.

'Kind Lady' Aids Hospital

Mrs. Harold D. Hodgkinson, of Marblehead, held a meeting at her home this week to arrange local committees to spread the news of the Salem Hospital benefit performance of "Kind Lady" at the North Shore Players, August 13th. Mrs. David Hunting, is chairman for Marblehead. Mrs. Oscar J. Ives and Mrs. Samuel H. Batchelder, Marblehead Neck; Mrs. R. Plant Hillsburgh, Swampscott; Mrs. Louis Kampf, Salem; Mrs. John Raymond, Hamilton; Mrs. Leslie Porter, Peabody; Mrs. Wallace Cook, Danvers; Mrs. Richard Thompson, Gloucester Point; and Mrs. Donald Watson, Peaches Point.

Harriet Butler and Barbara Phippen, will head the group of post debutante ushers who include Prudence Wellman, Mary L. Smith, Ann Millsbaugh, Ann Abbott, Elizabeth Butler and Rosamond Mason.

The program committee, under the leadership of Miss Mary L. Field, president of the Salem Hospital Aid Association, includes Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Louis Baer, Miss Harriet Butler, Mrs. Howard Cole, Mrs. Wallace Cook, Mrs. Charles Donovan, Mrs. Ralph Haywood, Mrs. Arnold Lawson, Mrs. William V. Smart Set Fashions

For Autumn Wear

By ANNICE BRINK

WHAT has the dress silhouette in store for autumn? For one thing, it has more variety than we'd expected . . . with all the furore about the straight and narrow skirts preceding the views of the advance numbers.

Actually there will be less flare to skirts, but there'll be flare enough. Newest looking flares are gored in form, and start slightly above the knee which gives a kick flare that hasn't been around for all of 10 years.

It's going to take a bit of time to get accustomed to the long-toe styles . . . extremely long jackets for suits or jacketed-effects for skirts, which are usually posed over a short box pleated skirt. You may not like it . . . if you don't, there's the other smart silhouette, the side-drape coat or frock that is very satisfactory, slimming and graceful.

You'll have to concentrate on tummy-flattering exercises. Some of the pleppum and hip drapes will endow you with one, even if you're guiltless of bulge. So you'll have to be nice and fit to wear them . . . but they are very good looking. And nice to look forward to are the new fall ensembles . . . a coat of boucle type wool over a sheer wool frock, both dyed to match exactly.

There will be much embroidery on autumn things . . . wool embroidery encrusted on sheer wools. And much velvet trim for the first few advance fall frocks . . . velvet trim and draping may be your guide posts in selecting one in which to make your smartest bow to autumn.

Dinner Party Hostess

Mrs. Samuel Chamberlain and Mrs. Duncan Dana will be joint hostesses at a large dinner party at Mrs. Dana's Marblehead home tomorrow evening preceding the benefit performance of "The Greeks Had a Word for It" at the Marblehead Theater. The American Friends of France will benefit from proceeds of the production.

Guests of the joint dinner hostesses will include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welch, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rott, Mr. Roger Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Storow, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Storow, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Weston, Mrs. R. W. Sampson, Mr. Albert Gould, Mrs. Robert W. Lovett, Dr. and Mrs. James B. Campbell, Mr. William DeFord Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Willis, Miss Edith Moffat and her fiancé, Austin Harding Antista Dana, Louise Barbour, Olivia Ames and M. Blake Johnson, 24.

Mr. Harold Willis of Westport, who arrived last week from France, where he was a member of the American Ambulance Corp will speak during intermission.

30 Unhurt In Boiler Explosion

Many persons narrowly escaped injury today as a big boiler in a sausage manufacturing company at Mercantile and Quincy sts. in the market district exploded.

The boiler was on the second floor of the building only a few feet from where a crowd of curious employees of the Colonial Provision Co. were at work making sausages.

Patsy Ciaranaglia of Maple at 17th St. and Somerville, was standing in the open doorway of the boiler room when the boiler let go.

Instantly the boiler exploded and windows of the building were shattered, spraying the streets and sidewalks below with flying glass.

Damage was set at $500.

Guard Artillery To Get Active Duty

Active duty in coastal forts is in store for the 24th Coast Artillery, Massachusetts National Guard is soon as Congress grants President Roosevelt authority to call out the guard, War department officials indicated today in Washington.

Similar units in Rhode Island and Connecticut are also scheduled to be among the first called.

'UNDER THIS ROOF' OPENS AT RED BARN THEATER

Before a responsive audience of well-wishers, "Under This Roof," first play of Herbert B. Ehimann, prominent Boston lawyer, opened the other night at the Red Barn Theater in Westboro.

Written by a man already successful in one field—Ehimann was associated with the Sacco-Vanzetti defense counsel and is widely known as a speaker on criminal law—the play re-creates for its audience the life that was lived under the roof of an ancient house. Dealing with the problems of the Warren family of New England from 1846 to the present day, at times spotty in writing but with a sustaining theme, the play shows that the necessity for fighting for liberty and democracy is no new and sudden modern-day departure but has always cut through the fabric of our national existence. Under the direction of Louise Galloway, Warren Reid, Wendell Corey, Alice Wiley, Peter Cookson, Lance Clarke and Conny Washburne, heading a carefully selected cast, give competent performances.

James Rennie At Cambridge

Another star from Broadway, James Rennie, is appearing at Brattle Hall this week in the Cambridge Summer Theater production of "The Spider," one of the most famous melodramas of the last 20 years. It combines mystery drama and vaudeville, with Rennie in the role of the magician who holds the spotlight much of the time and practices his wiles with the assistance of a youth known as Alexander.

Excitement is piled high during the search for the mysterious murderer. The audience finds itself right in the midst of the thrilling merry-go-round.

Irene Dunne Comedy Star

Irene Dunne and Cary Grant, co-starring in one of the season's most infectious screen comedies, "My Favorite Wife," will be the attraction at the Scollay and Modern theaters, starting Friday.

It's all pretty improbable but genuinely amusing, and guaranteed to take your mind off the weather and the news bulletins.

On the same bill will be "Untamed," featuring Boston's loveliest current visitor, Patricia Morison and Ray Milland.

All-Star Cast In Production

It's horses, horses, hoors on Met screen, starting tomorrow, when Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century-Fox Technicolor production, "Maryland," is to have its local premiere.

"Maryland" is said to have the "feel" of the racetrack and to be altogether a sleek and colorful screen production.

Heading a large and impressive cast are Walter Brennan, Fay Bainter, Brenda Joyce, John Payne, Charlie Ruggles, Marjorie Weaver and Hattie McDaniel. Three of these screeners, Miss Bainter and Miss McDaniel, have been honored with Academy awards for previous performances. Brennan's award having been for his work in "Kentucky," forerunner to "Maryland."

Hollywood's highly regarded Director Henry King was in charge of the production. Ethel Hill and Jack Andrews wrote the original screen play.

Paramount's "Golden Gloves," with Richard Denning and Jean Cagney (James' pretty sister), is to be the companion piece. It is the story of a young amateur boxer who battles his way to the heavyweight championship.

MARJORIE WEAVER and Charles Ruggles in "Maryland," opening on Met screen tomorrow.

HEADLINE STORY BEHIND GLOBE FEATURE

One of New York's most sensational headlines stories provided the material for "Smashing the Vice Racket," the Globe Theater's current attraction. It is the story of the rise and fall of "Lucky" Luciano, Broadway king, who is now behind bars as a result of the shocking evidence the trial brought out. It is the story of women who were chaperones and men who lived like robber barons.

NEW ENGLANDERS are more fortunate than most people realize, particularly in the warm summertime when millions are roasting in the sun-baked cities of the South and Middle West.

COOL AND REFRESHING
A Typical New England
Lake Scene

The temperatures listed are sufficient to show why millions of tourists and vacationists are flocking to Boston and New England.

BUT THERE'S A CLOUD in our local sky. It's not the Weather Man's fault. The blame lies wholly with the Census Man.

According to his report, Boston proper has a population now of 796,520, which is less by 11,668 than the 1930 figure of 781,183.

On the other hand, suburban communities like Newton, Lexington, Belmont, Arlington and Wellesley show encouraging gains.

Similarly, the 80 cities and towns which comprise Metropolitan Boston have a total population of 2,341,626—a substantial increase over the 1930 count of 2,307,233.

Boston is not the nation's ninth largest city, as the official census figure of 796,520 indicates.

The fact that Boston is home to 2,341,626 men, women and children makes it the THIRD LARGEST.

AMERICA'S HEALTH is really good. For the period ending June 15, the Public Welfare Service in Washington reports fewer cases of diphtheria, influenza, measles, scarlet fever, small-pox and typhoid fever.

In some communities, particularly in New England, these maladies have practically vanished.

This encouraging situation contrasts strikingly with the condition in Europe, where such dreaded diseases as typhus, malaria, tetanus and botulism are rapidly increasing.

Here, there is an abundance of food, medicines and everything conducive to good mental and physical health.

Over there, on the other hand, the war has caused wholesale destruction of crops and the loss of such necessary nutrients as Vitamin A, which prevents eye disorders; Vitamin B, which combats a wide variety of nerve and mental troubles, and Vitamin C, which enables the human body to resist scurvy.

SMILES FOR 2000 underprivileged girls and boys are assured by the announcement of Commissioner of Conservation Raymond J. Kenney that abandoned CCC camps and state parks will be used as vacation camps for needy children.

Nickerson State Park at Brewster has been assigned to the Boston Y. M. C. A., Harold Parker State Forest at Andover to the Burroughs Newsboys' Foundation, Upton State Forest to the Friends of Young Judea, and Myles Standish State Forest to the Knights of Pythias.

The idea is an excellent one and it deserves the fullest support. Looking ahead to the better, happier tomorrow, we must give young Americans every reasonable opportunity for growth and development.

National and State property cannot serve a better purpose.

SHOULD OLD FOLKS PAY poll taxes in Massachusetts? Or should they be released from the obligation after they pass the 70-year-mark?

These controversial questions will be answered when the Legislature convenes, for Representative Eric A. Nelson of West Roxbury has filed a bill to exempt the oldsters.

Of course, the idea is not new. Several States, including nearby New Hampshire, have adopted similar legislation.

The theory is that a man who has paid two dollars or more annually for a half century is entitled to a little leniency in his declining years.

On the Side

THERE IS an idea abroad among moral people," said Robert Louis Stevenson, "that they should make their neighbors poor. One person I have to make good is myself. . . . But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy—if I may?" If I may make you happy, sir, Miss or Madame, how can I do it? Now be nice in answering. Last time I asked this question a young woman of Pittsburgh wrote saying: "Listen, if you want to make me happy tie a 200-pound rock around your neck and jump off the nearest dock." It seems she was a little angry with me because I said bull dogs were dumb and she owned two bull dogs.

RUTH STARRET, the model, is said to have the most beautiful feet in Manhattan. A sort of a Broadway Triby. I notice whether or not a woman has beautiful hands, but so far, even on the beach, where the opportunity offers itself have not paid much attention to feminine feet. . . . Allan Dinehart is an actor. I remember when he played in vaudeville in a sketch titled "The Meanest Man in the World." That was about the time Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., was in the two-day in "A Regular Business Man" and also the period of Rae Samuels known as "The Blue Streak of Ragtime." . . . Robert P. Shaw directs the Rockefeller Museum of Science and Industry. I forget what Mr. Shaw's middle initial stands for, but it is either Peter, Paul, Percy or Paisley. Inventions of Leonardo Da Vinci are now being shown at the Rockefeller Museum. Da Vinci, who was 40 years old when Columbus discovered America, invented an airplane, a machine gun, a parachute, an automobile and an air conditioning system.

"YOU COMPLAIN about women who say 'Darling' so much," writes a Baltimore lady. "Why not suggest a good substitute?" I never complained about women saying "Darling" to the right person and proper time and place. I said they call everybody "Darling." They say "Good-bye, Darling" to their husbands and then answer a phone call from a woman friend, "Hello, Darling," and when they hang up the phone they shake their hand at the fan-ily pup and say: "Darling, you mustn't jump on the divan. Mama spank."

DISCUSSING the question as to what is the happiest day in a woman's life, Ben Scher, the Milwaukee boniface, says a woman told him the two happiest days in her life were the day she got married, and the day she got her divorce. . . . Those directing the career of Ann Sheridan decided that in her next picture she should either be spanked or socked in the jaw by the hero. Don't know why they decided Ann should be so treated or why they decided that a sock in the jaw scene would be best for the "Oomph Girl's" career. If I find out I will let you know. . . . Maybe you don't care?"

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, July 24—I suppose for many people the question of the three months closing of the Burma Road, over which supplies go to China, seems rather an academic question. Yet, when a nation is cut off from its ports, its one source of connection with the world, it must seem rather important to that nation.

I can remember, when I was young, having had explained to me what a great stride had been taken in drawing together the various nations of the world when trade had been established between China, Japan and ourselves. The "open door" policy was considered one to create better understanding between the yellow races of the Far East and the white races of this continent. Just as we see understanding receding between us and the nations of Europe, we see it disappearing in the Far East as well.

IN A MINOR WAY, Japan is doing to China what some day, a combination of nations might do to us. It is hard even to imagine such a thing, but the continent of Europe under one dictator can have all the advantages that the United States' economic system established when it drew 13 sovereignties into one and extended that sovereignty over 48 states.

With this kind of economy in Europe, under a man who does not have to persuade his people that he is right in anything he wishes to do, but simply gets the best advice he can and orders something done, we may well look with some concern on what is happening in the Far East, for we might find ourselves between two fairly strong pincers.

THE CHINESE PEOPLE are making an interesting experiment in cooperatives which we might well assist. Their success and their economic set-up may mean freedom of intercourse in the Far East with people living under a democratic form of government—a situation which we must hope to see in both China and Japan in the future.

An appeal has come to me to help China with their industrial cooperatives. They have over 2000 small industries now established, making over 500 kinds of goods or local raw materials for local needs, with a monthly turnover of $6,000,000 in Chinese money. There are millions of men and women to work in these new industries.

IT MAY SOUND very selfish, but from the point of view of our own interest, wouldn't it be wise to encourage the growth of economic security in China? I realize the needs of Japan, I am all for peaceful trade with Japan, but somehow it seems to me that this spread of war all over the world must be stopped and the best way to do so in the Far East would be to build up economic security.

DEMPSEY TO END FIGHT TOUR

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, July 24—Jack Dempsey's "comeback" is finished and he'll never fight again. He has canceled his tour and is trying to settle the contract for his next fight, scheduled to be held in North Carolina. Max Waxman, Jack's manager, now confesses that the only reason he arranged for this comeback was to take Jack's mind off his matrimonial difficulties. . . . SAM GOLDWYN: Mary Pickford, who plans to return to the screen, is interested in a story by Mitz Cummings—a story based upon the life of Lady Madison. Mary wants to play that role. . . . RADIO GUIDE: Frank Mullen, vice-president of RCA in charge of advertising and publicity, is scheduled to be named Vice-President and General Manager of NBC early next month.

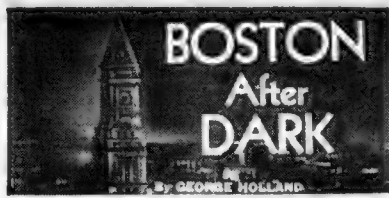

MARY PICKFORD

BEN HECHT: When Norman Krasna refused the $60,000 offer his agents obtained, for his screen play of "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," he decided to intervene and to speak directly to George Schaefer, head of RKO. . . . "But Mr. Krasna," said Schaefer, "you've got all the money you want—so why do you want $75,000 for this script instead of $25?" . . . "Because," was Krasna's simple explanation, "I want to be the highest paid screen writer in Hollywood." . . . EQUITY: The police station at Clinton, Conn., is located in the same building where Alexander Kirkland is presenting his Clinton Playhouse productions. Because Kirkland parked his car too long in front of that building he was arrested and tried—between rehearsals of "After the Ball."

JIM BARTON: Jack Kirkland, in whose "Tobacco Road" you starred for so many years, now is deciding between Noah Beery, Jr., and Dean Jagger for the lead in the Paul Gangelin play he's producing. . . . DAMON RUNYON: There'll be room for many more visitors to your Dade County, Fla., this winter. Grossinger's, the famous Catskill resort, is building a Miami Beach branch, and ground already has been broken. . . . DOUGLAS DUDLEY: John Barrymore reopens "My Dear Children" at Los Angeles Biltmore theater Sept. 9.

DEANNA DURBIN: "Nobody's Baby," the song you revived in "Andy Hardy Meets a Debutante," was written 20 years ago. Two of the authors, Milton Ager and Lester Santly, now have their own publishing companies—but a third publisher, Leo Feist, Inc., now owns the rights to this song which again is popular. . . . ELSA MAXWELL: Lady Jersey, who arrived here recently, met with another tragedy and has left N. Y. You'll see her in Hollywood soon.

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE: Perhaps the Boston firemen's "barber shop" quartet will return from the World's Fair finals as the country's champions. . . . This would bring about a momentous hullabaloo hereabouts, with the smoke-eaters' comrades in Fire Commissioner Arthur Reilly's command leading the cheering. . . . But the fire-fighting harmonizers—championship or no championship—have won two weeks of profitable work, and maybe more, as a result of their success in the New England competition to choose the most listenable in close harmony. . . . The story, and its trimmings, is a beauty.

AND HERE IT IS. . . . Amid the chintzy plush-mixed metaphors really belong with the yarn—of the Ritz Roof, the Boston firemen's quartet will do its stuff going Monday next. . . . (It certainly marks the beginning-democratic of the famous Roof). . . . Where society's favorite songstress, Adelaide Moffett, crooned the top ballads of exactly a year ago this time, Ritz Roof customers next week will be hearing such items as "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland," "I Had a Dream, Dear," "Down by the Old Millstream," and (unless Ed Wyner, boss of the Ritz, has a clause in the contract forbidding it)—"Sweet Adeline."

THAT, IN THE MAIN, is the story, but reports come this way of a display of showmanship, assertedly sanctioned by the Fire Commissioner, with which the firemen vocalists will be introduced. . . . Marilyn Miller's entrance on a white horse, flanked by Ziegfeld beauties on white horses of their own, was a memorable grand entrance of "Whoopee." . . . But even Ziegfeld, when he was running the Midnight Frolics on the Amsterdam Roof, skipped a bet the Ritz intends to use as a grand entrance for the Reilly boys. . . . They're coming over the Roof on scaling ladders.

TO THE ACCOMPANIMENT of silens and with the quartet wearing fire helmets and red shirts, that entrance should be really startling. . . . And if Commissioner Reilly has gone the entire distance in co-operating, as a usually reliable informant assures us he has, the amateur vocalists will be conveyed to the Ritz aboard a fire-truck or hook-and-ladder. . . .

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: "I'm Nobody's Baby" is the latest "oldest" to be plucked from the dusty shelves of a Tin Pan Alley firm's "catalogue" to be pulmotorized into the No. 1 song position. . . . The ASCAP song companies are beginning to launch a real offensive against the big broadcasting companies. . . . Radio has been regarded as an essential, perhaps the only essential, medium of "plugging" the nation's songs. . . . Here's a hint of how the music publishers are attempting to depreciate the importance of radio as a means of popularizing songs. . . . It's the last paragraph of a "blurb" praising the appeal of "I'm Nobody's Baby," and goes: "I'm Nobody's Baby" has been recorded by Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey, Ozzie Nelson, Tommy Tucker, Bea Wain, Bob Crosby, Phil Harris, and last week was reported

WARNER BAXTER TO CO-STAR

By Louella O. Parsons

Warner Baxter

HOLLYWOOD, July 24 (INS). I will say for Robert Sherwood, 28-year-old producer, that he is getting some mighty big names for "Lacey," the Charles Boner story. Constance Bennett, who has been waiting for months to make up her mind on a story, today agreed to co-star with Warner Baxter. An interesting combination—Bennett and Baxter—two people who know their movies from A to Z.

The role the eldest Bennett plays is that of a French governess who goes to work for an American family. Connie can speak French fluently and if you don't watch out she will break into parle vous Francaise without batting an eyelash. The American family have five sons and Warner is their father. Nuff said, you know the rest. Elsa Maxwell has a picturesque and colorful part and is delighted that "once she isn't playing herself" Columbia will release young Sherwood's movie effort which will be awaited with interest.

GINGER ROGERS

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Jane Pickens and Eddie Duchin have kissed and made up. The reconciliation lasted until 3 a. m. at the Beverly Derby; Burns and Allen called the Coconut Grove the "Cocoanut Grove" on their program and war was immediately declared with the Ambassador saying that Edy Duchin has really done a better business than any of his predecessors; Greta Garbo and Dr. Gaylor Hauser didn't cause a ripple when they attended "Skyark"; Gertrude Lawrence's play, "Robert Lowery and Vivian Wilcox, former Earl Carroll beauty, will take an altar march when her divorce becomes final; the cute redhead with Big Boy Williams was Patsy Carleton of the Florentine Gardens.

BUDDY ROGERS had two days vacation so he flew in to see Mary Pickford, who met him at the airport bright and early; the James Roosevelt picture, "Pastor Hall," which was first mentioned in this column, will be previewed Friday night. That's the one for which Mrs. F. D. R. did the narrating; poor little Scotty Beckett had one of his front teeth knocked out riding the surf board at Catalina; Eddie Albert with his former flame, Kathleen Fitz, at the Hollywood Tipples.

ANDY DEVINE is heading back from Kansas to meet his wife and they'll start out in a trailer and tour the state exhibiting their jumping horses. Gloria Jean's father, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is well enough to go home.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

JOEL BARTON placed the black bag he was carrying on the floor, took a pass key from his pocket and let himself out the front door of the Smiths' home, chuckling to himself as he did so. He was still chuckling when he reached home. Going to his room, he sat on the bed and reviewed the night's work. He was proud of himself, was Joel, proud of the reputation he had built up in the city's underworld as being one of the most careful and successful second story men in the business. He overlooked nothing, and left nothing to chance, and having planned his actions from the time he left his home until he returned with his plunder, he did not forget a single detail of his well-laid scheme.

THIS JOB was really a masterpiece. He had sent the Smith couple a pair of tickets to the city's most successful musical comedy, and had laughed to himself as he pictured their pleased surprise and speculations as to whom they were indebted.

When they had left their home at seven o'clock, he had trailed them to the theater, loitered around for 15 minutes to make sure that they were settled for the evening, and then retraced his steps to the scene of action.

His pass key had opened the door for him, and he had gone directly to the library where his skilled fingers had made short work of the small wall safe behind the second row of books.

Transferring the contents to his bag and closing the safe, he'd cast a glance around the room. His gloves were a precaution against fingerprints and he had disturbed nothing.

His hope had been that the Smiths would not discover their loss for a day or two, giving him a chance to dispose of his loot.

He thought of the many weary nights he had spent to gain all the necessary information, but reflected that it was worth it. He never forgot a thing, no sir, not Joel Barton.

STILL LAUGHING quietly to himself, he reached for the bag, and checked himself suddenly as his heart gave a tremendous leap, sending the blood to his head with a rush.

After carrying his scheme to perfection, he'd forgotten the most important factor—THE BAG.

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

EVER WATCH a lady lurcher fluttering over a platter of French pastry in an agony of indecision? Silly, isn't it?

More lives have been wrecked or wasted by indecision than by all the plagues and perils put together. Yet, in the majority of cases the victims of indecision never know what licked them—and invariably blame their misfortune on the other fellow.

Of all human problems, this is the pestiest and least recognized. Few of us realize the importance of decision. We take it for granted that any normal person is born with an ability to know what he wants. . . . or just naturally accumulates it as he goes along. Than which, no notion could be wacker.

DECISION is always an acquired habit. . . . and the most painfully acquired of all habits. Indeed, the great majority of human beings never do acquire it, but go through life uncertain as to what they want and seeking escapes from the dreadful business of making a choice.

We all claim to love liberty. Then why do so many stay in a mental rut all their lives? Why do they allow themselves to be dominated by other wills, often to their obvious disadvantage? Why do they bind themselves by various complicated codes. . . . fill their lives with meaningless activities. . . . follow rigid patterns?

BECAUSE THEY ARE UNABLE OR AFRAID TO TAKE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF MAKING THEIR OWN DECISIONS. AND GRASP AT ANYTHING WHICH WILL LIFT ITS UNWELCOME WEIGHT. AND ARE USUALLY MISERABLE FOREVER AFTER!

There is no reason why any of us should lead starved and servile existence. Life has an abundance of opportunity for us all, but each opportunity carries a price.

We must prove our own fitness by showing our ability to decide what we will take, what we will reject.

LEARN to decide. Learn early—and make your youngster do the same. Force yourself to face each emergency that arises, however trivial, and do something definite about it. Don't duck one single choice or let anyone else make it for you. FOR AS SURE AS YOU DO, LIFE WILL WRITE YOU OFF THE RECORD AND THE WORLD WILL KNOW YOU FOR WHAT YOU ARE—A RUN OUT!

Cooking 20 Chicken Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

The market is offering good buys in the flavorful, plump meaty fowl. So here is an ideal season to serve the family favorites—hot creamed chicken, a la King, a la Newburg, chicken shortcake, so indispensable for that one hot dish in a hot weather menu—with cold chicken sandwiches or chicken salad to round out the picnic or cold supper menu.

For entertainment needs you will like cold Chicken Plate De Luxe when the club meets at your home, and Buffet Pie for your next Sunday supper party. Both are well fitted to entertainment needs since they may be prepared well in advance.

With the salad plate serve plenty of hot, fragrant coffee. Angel Food slices and crushed strawberry sauce for dessert—and you have a menu to suit a king's and queen's taste.

CHICKEN PLATE DE LUXE

- 1 qt. tomato juice cocktail
- 1 cup chicken broth
- Juice of 1 lemon, 1 cup
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire
- 1 tsp. gelatin
- 2 cups hot cooked chicken
- 2 cups cooked peas
- 1 cup celery, diced
- 1 cup, chopped olives
- 1 cup French dressing
- 1 lb. chopped cheese
- 2 bread slices 1 1/2 lb. bread
- 20 level eggs

Heat tomato cocktail. Meanwhile, soften gelatin in chicken broth. Add lemon juice, Worcestershire, gelatin and broth to hot juice. Stir to dissolve gelatin completely. Season to taste with salt, pepper or cayenne. Pour in dripping, 50 or 100 drops to set. Mix peas and chicken, then marinate in French dressing 2 or 3 hours. Prepare sandwiches of bread and the cheese, which has been softened at room temperature. Add softened butter if desired. Remove crust and cut each sandwich into 4 triangles.

For each plate, unroll or cut a square of tomato aspic on a bed of lettuce arranged on chilled plates. Drain peas and chicken, add celery and olives, then fill ring, or arrange round squares of aspic. Arrange 4 deviled egg halves around center, with 4 sandwiches, points up, between eggs. Garnish with parsley or watercress and paprika. Buffet the calls for Chantilly or Aspic (from Boston) and a salad of popovers, crisp hot, fresh out of the oven; fresh strawberry jam; gooseberry or strawberry tarts with cheese, and plenty of hot coffee.

BUFFET PIE

- 1 large fowl
- 8 hard cooked eggs
- 1/2 cup toasted almonds
- 1/2 cup stuffed olives
- 1 tsp. gelatin
- 1/2 cup water or stock, cold
- 1 egg yolk

Rich pastry
Simmer fowl in seasoned salted water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, a carrot, an onion, 1 lb. of celery. Remove from stock, and boil stock down to about 2 1/2 cups. Meanwhile, soak gelatin in cold water, then dissolve in the hot stock. Season highly with salt and pepper, and pour into baking dish. Roll rich pastry made preferably with part butter to 1/4 inch thickness. Cover pie, fluting or crimping edge. Brush surface with beaten egg yolk diluted with milk or water. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) until crust is golden brown. Chill at least 10 hours before serving. Cut in 1/2-inch slices, or narrow wedge-shaped pieces.

chased that way. Less water will be required for cooking; all the goodness remains in the meal, since little stock is required in the soup. Barely cover meat with water to which 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 small carrot and onion, 1 rib of celery, 1 clove and 4 peppercorns are added. Cook gently until tender, 2 to 3 hours; cook quickly. Love And Marriage He Kisses Another

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

For six months I've been going with a young man, I am very fond of him, and he seems to like me, at least so he tells everyone. But he's in the habit of kissing other girls right before my eyes.

We both belong to the same club and when we meet at dances he never asks me to dance, yet he becomes very angry if I accept dances from other men. I always try to be nice to him. Do you advise that I keep on doing this, or shall I ignore him entirely? Our families are great friends and we see each other at most all functions, so I can't avoid him.

PATRICIA.

It looks to me as if you've been spoiling this young man, my dear. He doesn't ask you to dance and gets angry when you dance with other men. He tells people he's fond of you, and then turns around and kisses other girls.

I think a good dose of indifference ought to work miracles with this young man. At the same time I'd advise you to dance with all the partners who ask you.

THIS DAY started for her as yesterday and the day before had started for her, with the question: How shall I go on, with all doors seemingly closed against me? And the knowledge that she must go on, even in a growing hopelessness.

But this morning she could not bring herself even to whisper that it is always darkest before dawn, a reiterated saying that had helped keep her spirits up heretofore. Standing at her window, looking out at the early morning street, she could only remember that between her and this street, there lay the three nickels reposing in her shabby purse.

Could there be a new dawn for a woman over fifty whose old-time friends had one by one vanished into the mist? A woman who had been happily married for over a quarter of a century, then left a widow, alone and untrained to go out into a highly competitive world and wrest a living.

After Ted's death, three years before, she had rented this small, furnished flat, paying twenty-five dollars a month. The insurance money, little enough after Ted's long, expensive illness during which they had been compelled to borrow on his policy, had been divided little by little, no matter how careful she was. Anxious to work, she could find nothing steady.

There was still one untried way, relief. But she wanted to use herself, her experience of life and service.

She heard footsteps going down the stairs out aside her door, and stood alert. Neighbors! She always feared their intrusion, their prying and gossip. She did have something left—her pride.

The footsteps returned, paused, and there was a knock at her door. Because suddenly she thought it better definitely to turn the intruder away, she went to the door, opened it.

A young woman, holding a small box by the hand stood outside. She spoke quickly: "I'm a neighbor of yours, Mrs. Cameron. I wonder if I might ask a favor of you?"

Martha hesitated, briefly, then: "Come in," she said.

A NEW JOB

The visitor, scarcely more than a girl, entered, stood in the narrow hall. "I'm Janet Lane," she explained. "I've seen you several times. Would you, could you take care of my little boy today?"

"I'm sorry." "It doesn't matter," the girl answered, turning away. "Perhaps I can find someone else. You see, I work all day."

Tomorrow's Dawn

By Emily Calvin Blake

What do you usually do with the child?

"I take him every morning to the nursery school, but he's been so cross lately and cried whenever I mentioned the school, I thought a quiet day spent with a woman like you, so poised—and kind looking—would be good for him."

Martha swallowed hard. "I'll take care of the child today," she agreed, firmly, and was amazed at herself.

"Oh, thank you, I'll bring his lunch down, crackers, apple sauce and milk. You can put that in your icebox."

"The ice man passed me this morning," Martha said. He had passed her because she had not put her card out.

Tommy cried out, "I don't want to stay here, I want to go home, upstairs."

"He's not usually that way," Janet assured Martha. "He's just being naughty because he feels strange."

"Suppose," Martha said, "that I stay with him in your flat today?" "Oh, would you? That would take care of everything. If I left him crying I'd be miserable all day. I'm a stenographer in an insurance office," she added.

Janet's flat upstairs was larger than Martha's and furnished simply, but with individual good taste. She let Tommy wander about as he pleased, picking up a toy, flinging it down, and then suggested a nap. But he was too restless for that. He wanted to go to the park.

They walked to the little park, only a few blocks away. Tommy winning over step of the way, till Martha took him up into her arms. His small head nestled in her neck gave her a warm, comforted feeling.

They sat on the park bench, he still close in her arms. He was beautiful she thought with his brown eyes and golden hair. She thought of her own little boy who had lived so few years, and how life had seemed to stop for her and Ted after the child's passing.

Tommy slept, awakened. "I'd like," he told her, "an ice cream cone."

A SICK CHILD! She was glad she had stopped in her own place for her purse. "After a while," she promised. Then: "Don't you want to run about and play?"

"No, but if my Daddy was here he'd play with me. But he's gone a long way off." (Poor little fellow, fatherless.) "But I'm not going to cry ever," said Tommy, who had wept on and off during Martha's ministrations. "I'm four years old and I don't cry. How old are you?"

"Many times more than four, Tommy."

"Tell me a story," he demanded. So she brought back the words of Jack the Beanstalk, and thence she had not known she still remembered. He listened attentively. And when she had finished, exclaimed: "It's been after a while for twenty minutes!"

She found herself laughing. "The ice cream cone, you mean. Come along, Tommy, and we'll find a stand."

The cone eaten, he began his whimpering. So she took him back home.

This is Dr. Marlow, Janet."

Martha said.

Tommy flung himself down on the davenport in the living room. Then at once he fell asleep, but tossing restlessly. She bent over, felt his brow. Fever. This was the reason for all his crying and irritability. Martha was greatly disturbed.

She did not know how to reach Janet, and something should be done at once for Tommy. Perhaps he was at the beginning of a serious illness.

On this thought she went looking about the flat, but there was no telephone. Taking the front door key she ran down the stairs and into a nearby real estate office, asking to use the telephone. With her second nickel she called Doctor Marlowe who had attended Ted in his last illness. His office nurse took the address and said the doctor would call as soon as he returned from another patient.

She undressed Tommy, pulled on his flannellette pajamas, and put him in his own bed in Janet's room. After a time, he relaxed her hand that he had clutched and she fastened into the living room. At six o'clock Janet awoke, her senses filled with burdens and an unexpected letter she had taken from her box downstairs in her hands. "You'll stay to supper with me, Mrs. Cameron?" she asked eagerly. "Where's Tommy?"

"He's asleep in his own bed."

"Good. I'll not go in to awaken him, but he usually doesn't nap so long." She went out into the kitchen, put her packages away, and returned to the living room. Still, there did she open her letter. Her eyes ran over its contents. She looked at Martha.

"I guess I'll have to go to my job," she said.

"Wait!" Martha cried. "This about Tom? He has fever. He's been in an Arizona sanatorium for nearly a year. His mother, Janet, has been in the hospital for a long time. You know, as far as all his expenses. Tom's mother is a doctor. She's not so well as you are. Think about Tom, and me. I feel I've let go, the first and the last, I've felt creep in between the lines of my letters." She said down, utterly discouraged.

"Tommy was with him taken here."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Cameron," Janet went on, but I feel as though I had a chance to see him."

"The doctor had room with child doctors. Doctor Marlowe. He entered large and elegant looking. This is Doctor Marlowe, Janet. Mr. Cameron said."

"I'll go," Janet started toward the door.

"Prices Are Going Up"

"I REMEMBER..." Yes, the men who remember the trend of used car prices in the nation's last period of preparedness are advising... buy used cars now... Today... Experience is the best indication of what we may expect in the present situation. Today, with the wheels of industry turning out defense materials on a high speed schedule, it seems that used car prices will experience a sharp advance in the near future. Buying your next car now will not only protect you against price advances... it also gives you the opportunity of selecting a better car from a larger assortment of all makes and models. Used car dealers are advertising a splendid group of used cars today at prices which are low... and, in all probability, no indication of what you may have to pay for a car of the same quality in the very near future.

BOSTON CAN have a professional football club in the National Football League if it is willing to give 100 per cent support to the team. Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh eleven, is my authority for this statement.

GEORGE MARSHALL

Rooney denied that any Boston group ever offered him $50,000 for his franchise.

"I have never been approached by anybody in regard to selling my franchise to Boston," declared Rooney. "I have read various newspaper articles which declared I had conferred with Boston football people, but such was not the case."

"I have an open mind on the matter of moving to Boston. You may be assured I shall give any legitimate offer serious consideration."

Boston Fans Know Their Football

I TOLD ROONEY it was my opinion that Boston and New England fans know their football better than people in other sections of the country.

"New England is old in football traditions," I told Rooney. "The ordinary people on the street can tell you the fine points of the game. I thought the professional game was being well received at the time George Marshall soured on Boston and removed his franchise to Washington."

"Do you believe I could succeed with a professional club in Boston?" asked Rooney.

I told him I knew he could. Any time a sports promoter offers Boston fans a first class attraction he does not lack for patronage. Those athletic ventures which have proved failures have usually lacked merit.

I was talking with Charles F. Adams recently in regard to professional football. Adams has interests in Suffolk Downs, the Bruins and in the Bees, and so may be said to have a well-rounded interest in sports.

"If I were a young man," said Adams, "I would concentrate upon getting a professional football franchise for Boston. It would take a little work and some patience to develop a winning team, but it would come along in time. Football has become a major pastime."

"Regardless of what's in store for us, as to games won and lost," declared Casey Stengel, manager of the Bees, after Pres. Bob Quinn had announced that Rabbit Warstler had been claimed on waivers by the Chicago club and would be in a Cubs uniform this afternoon, "I'm going to continue trying to build a young club."

"Although Warstler didn't fit into our picture, we refused to send him to any minor league club," Case continued. "If he hadn't been claimed by the Cubs, Bob Quinn was going to keep him through the season."

"Warstler hasn't been in many games this season but in the past he did his bit and he did it very well."

"When he came here to play under Bill McKechnie, the Bees moved up from the bottom rung or seventh place into fifth. And let me tell you, there never was a gamier ball player than Warstler. He has played for me with 'Charlie Horses' and sore arms without a whimper. Moreover, he's a smart player."

"They all kick 'em around, and

Sergia Supplants Horblit at Dilboy

26 EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1940

The Golden Glove finals of the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W., get under way tonight at Dilboy Field, Somerville, at 8:15, with five amateur boxing crowns at stake.

One last minute change throws a somewhat different complexion on the heavyweight division, Dave Horblit, deaf and dumb youngster from Boston, has been forced by illness to relinquish his place in the finals in favor of Sergia, Boston.

Harold Harris

Sergia, National Guard Champion, readily accepted the spot and the challenge to get a crack at Pat Devine, Cambridge, Bill Dupee, Cambridge, and John Pretzie, Boston. Sergia was eliminated by Devine in the preliminaries.

In the 126-pound class New England Champion Harold Harris, Malden, and Francis Doyle, State Champ from Roxbury, will get plenty of opposition from Al Slater, North End and Bob Piron, Lowell. Slater, holding a decision over Doyle, looks especially dangerous. Billy Daley, Roxbury New England champion in the 135-pound class heads the field in the 135-pound class which includes Jimmy Kelley, Lowell, Jimmy Esposito, Brookline, and Steve Gould, Lowell. In the 147-pound class, Gene Baulfin, Providence, Ray Buckless, Saugus, Dave Andrews, Lowell, and Mike Chiozza, Haverhill will stage a free-for-all.

B. C.'S GALLIGAN GETS NEW POST

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 24—Edward P. "Ted" Galligan, assistant football coach at Boston College for the past four years today was signed to coach at Mt. St. Charles Academy in this city. The announcement was made by the Rev. Brother Lorenzo, P. S. C.

Galligan served as line coach and freshman coach at Boston College last season and his fine work played a prominent part in the success of the Eagles and the Eaglets. The Colton Bowl team had one of the best lines in the country last year, both offensively and defensively.

Galligan was the only hold-over coach when youthful Frank Leshy took over the head position vacated by the veteran Gli Doliv. He had been an assistant for three years under Doliv. His first two years with Doliv he was a varsity assistant while in his third season he devoted most of his time to coaching the freshmen. His freshman team was undefeated and untied.

It scored more points than any other freshman team in the nation, and its star halfback, Frank Macknick of West Warwick, R. I., was the highest scoring freshman back in the country.

Last season the B. C. freshman enjoyed a good record, climaxing the campaign with a 20-0 win over the powerful Holy Cross freshman team.

The new Mt. St. Charles coach attended Rindge Tech, St. Anselm's Prep School and Boston College. He played baseball, basketball and football at all three schools.

He will coach these sports at Mt. St. Charles where he will begin his new duties in September.

Time to Bring in Kids From Farms To Revivify Hose

By HERB FINNEGAN

It may seem pretty early to quit on the Red Sox, what with two months of the pennant race still to go, but after blowing four-run leads to the Tigers here last Wednesday and to the White Sox in Chicago yesterday, it has become apparent to every downtown quarterback that the club will never win a pennant as it is now composed.

If the life of a pennant winner is never more than four years, as Connie Mack insists, then surely the life of a pennant also-ran couldn't be any longer. And if the Sox couldn't win with Fox, Cramer, Grove, Cronin and all the past few years, how can they hope to win with the same faces this year or any year hereafter?

New blood is needed if the club is ever going anywhere. Certainly if they couldn't win this year with mediocre competition, what chance will there be for them again?

You can bet the Yanks won't be any pushover next year.

LUPIN CAN HIT

So why wouldn't this be a good time to bring in the rookies from the farms and let them see what they can do?

The Sox today are in third place, five games behind the Detroit Tigers. That is not an insurmountable margin but from the way the Sox have been playing for the past six weeks they will be falling into the second division instead of climbing the ladder.

That's no joke, either, because you can see from the standings that the Yankees and White Sox are right on their heels, and both are playing better ball than the Black Bay boys, particularly the galloping men of Dykes.

Dom Di Maggio proved a tonic to the Sox when he first got in there, so perhaps a few new faces would give the club a lift in the stretch run.

Here are a few moves which might not be amiss:

1—Bring in Ulysses Lupien from Little Rock to replace the injured Fox at first base.

2—Bring in Ed Pellegrini from Scranton to play shortstop, and shift Cronin to third.

3—Bring in Pitchers Mickey Harris, Bill Butland and Woody Rich from Scranton, and trade some of the dead-end pitchers who have proved they'll never be winners.

5—Trade Cramer and Tabor for pitchers or a Grade-A catcher.

6—By all means get that catcher, Lupien is a natural, strong hitter, and he can run.

Pellegrini is a speed merchant and a slick fielder.

Harris, Butland and Rich can't do any worse than the veterans, and at least they'll be getting valuable experience for another year.

ACTION WANTED

Di Maggio is a natural center fielder, and will be played there eventually. Why not now?

The Sox have no life with Cronin out of the lineup, and they need his clutch hitting, and the shift to third should extend his active baseball life a couple of years.

Trade Cramer and Tabor while they are playing good ball, so you can get something valuable for them.

Something must be done, and done in a hurry if the Sox are to keep from sliding into the second division.

There are a few suggestions Mr. Fenway. Take them or leave them.

BILL JURGES OUT INDEFINITELY

BILL JURGES

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—Bill Jurgens, sure-handed shortstop of the Giants, who was hit by a pitched ball a month ago, will be lost to the team a week longer and perhaps indefinitely, it was disclosed today.

Upon the club's return from a road trip, Jurgens was examined by Dr. C. R. Palmer, who found him suffering from a "derangement of inner ear of the left ear."

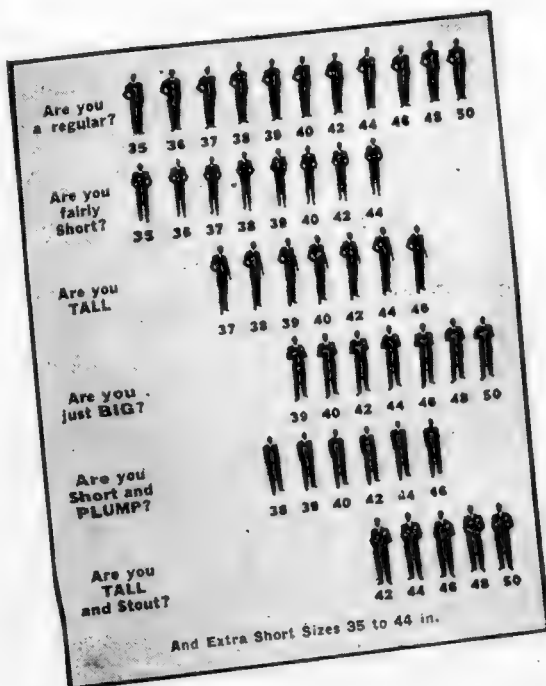

Jurgens suffered dizzy spells when he tried to return to the lineup in the West.

The physician added there was no way of foretelling how long Jurgens would need to recover.

Rockingham to Install Suffolk's Puett Gate

SALEM, N. H., July 24—Bob Frend, youthful Texan who is rated among the outstanding starters in the country, will mount the rostrum at Rockingham Park next Monday at 2:30 and send the horses away from the gate as the old Rock opens its eighth annual summer meeting.

The Puett electric gate will be used here for the first time, and the New Hampshire Racing Commission today announced the rule which will be in force in the event of any mishap to the new electrical gadget.

WHEN GATE FAILS

William L. Phinney, chairman of the Racing Commission, announces the following rule:

"If the doors at the front of any stall gate should not open when the starter dispatches the rule, thereby causing a horse to be left, the starter shall immediately report the name of the horse to the stewards, and the stewards shall order the money bet on such horse to be deducted from the pool and refunded to the purchasers of tickets on that horse."

"If one horse of an entry or one horse grouped in the field should leave the gate, there shall be no refund on the entry nor on the field."

"If the doors in front of two or more of the stall gates (except those of both horses and dogs, as a glance at Tuesday's mutual tolls proves. Here is the one-day take at the various tracks.

$548,763 Bet In Single Day

Horse and dog racing would never go in Puritanical New England, it was predicted when the horses were introduced in 1933 and the dogs a year later.

But in this seventh year of pari-mutuel betting New England folk are still wagering heavily on both horses and dogs, as a glance at Tuesday's mutual tolls proves. Here is the one-day take at the various tracks.

Suffolk Downs (horses) $311,268
Wonderland (dogs) $133,732
Raynham (dogs) $80,697
Gansett (trotters) $23,066

Total $548,763

and the professional game is here to stay."

Marshall Makes Good in Washington

GEORGE MARSHALL has scored a tremendous success with his Redskins in Washington. The team easily makes $80,000 to $100,000 a year. In Boston the Redskins would also have become a financial success if Marshall had exercised more patience and had not increased his prices at a time when the team had become well established.

In New York and in Chicago, professional football has been well received. Detroit and Green Bay have also done well. In time, Dan Topping, who recently was married to Sonja Henie, expects to come up with a winning team in Brooklyn. Dennis Shea, who was business manager for the Redskins when they made Boston their home, acts in a similar capacity in Brooklyn.

In the early days of professional football, some of the star players were reluctant to cast their lot with the National Football League. They preferred careers as college coaches as they felt they lost a certain amount of cast by joining professional clubs. This condition no longer exists, and the top college players eagerly await attractive offers from the professionals.

Professional golfers went through a similar period years ago. This was partly due to the line that English clubs drew between the professional and amateur player. Walter Hagen did more than any other player to break down this prejudice. When the Haig would go to England, he would usually play a game of golf with the Prince of Wales, now the Prince of Windsor, at one of the swanky clubs.

In the United States, the professional golfer has had a high standing in recent years. This group has proved a credit to the links game, and has done much to increase its popularity.

The professional football player not only does not lose cast, but he has also succeeded in proving that the game as played by the professionals is much more expert than that played by the college eleven.

Great as were Bill Osmanski and Bill McLeod when they won recognition on the Hearst All-America team when they played at Holy Cross and Dartmouth respectively they were able to improve their games once they joined the ranks of the professionals.

Rube Faces Gesture

Bud Carroll will send his 1939 National champion to post in tonight's ninth race at Wonderland seeking revenge against Brave Gesture which showed The Rube his paw in Saturday's feature race, to win by a length.

The feud between these two great and speedy greyhounds is the keenest yet seen and is rivaled only by the good-natured competitive spirit of their owners, Carroll and Art Wilson.

Frey Saves Day, Then Is Whaled

FIGHT, FIGHT!—Mud-smeared Lonnie Frey (11) of Reds picks himself up from ground as Rabbit Reese holds off teammate Pete Coscarart. Coscarart ripped into Frey when latter slid into him at second preventing him from completing double play which would have prevented Werber from scoring with tying run. Reds won out in 11th, 4-3. Rushing into action is Fred Fitzsimmons (No. 14) and Vito Tamulis (No. 15). Scrap occurred during eighth inning of first game. Reds took doubleheader from Dodgers, boosting their lead over second place club to 7 games.

so did Warstler, but you nor nobody else can recall a "bone" play that he ever made.

QUINN LIKES RABBIT

"Bob Quinn told me last spring down at Bradenton that if I decided to let Warstler go, it must be to a major league club. It's Bob's contention that Rabbit gave the Boston club one dollar's worth of service for every dollar he was paid.

"I don't know whether you know it or not but Quinn paid $13,000 to get Warstler when he owned the Red Sox. He was strong for Rabbit in those days, and he's still strong for him.

"I've come to the conclusion that the signing of veterans is a mistake. The best any club can get from veterans is temporary relief. Players who have been kicked around the major leagues for a number of years may help you for short time but they are usually soon on their way out. And while they have been carrying on for you, the chances are you've neglected some youngster who'd be ready if he'd received the proper attention and experience.

"The same holds true for pitchers, who have spent more than five years in the minors, regardless of classification.

"From here in they can't give me a pitcher who has served ten years 'down below.' Sure, some of them have one good season but then they are through and they know it. You know, you keep figuring they will come through again but they never do. They've left their pitching in the minors.

WORD FOR JAVERY

"We have built from the ground up this spring. And, believe it or not, we're going to have something to show the National League fans. On many occasions I've predicted that the Bees would be a better club in August than they were in May or June. And, they will be.

"It's been the pitching that has ruined us up to now. But we're getting a corps together, which I believe will solve our pitching problem. And it will be ready for market quicker than most fans realize.

"Young Javery is a great prospect. He's getting the feel of big league competition. At times, he's 'sugar bush.' That's to be expected, but next year he won't fall for any of the stuff the boys have pulled on him this season.

"No ball player, particularly a youngster, likes to be a 'goat.' Over in Pittsburgh the other day one of the Pirates yelled 'Time,' just as Javery was starting his windup. Due to inexperience, Javery stopped and a balk was called.

"I knew he was a serious kid, but I didn't realize he had a temper.

"Just as soon as he realized he had fallen for that 'Time' gag, Javery went 'red.' Our old friend, Elbie Fletcher, was the next hitter, and, much to my surprise, Javery unloaded and popped 'Albie' in the ribs with a fast ball. Between us, that's the best cure I know to keep the boy off a young pitcher.

"Javery can pump that old ball in there, and when he's right he has good control. I started him over in St. Louis and he was entitled to a win. But it just so happened it was one of those days when our defense was porous.

"He looked good to me yesterday. I don't know offhand how many hits the Cubs got off him, but I do know that Hack's single and Leibler's double were the only real ones.

WATCH HIM NEXT YEAR

"By the end of the season, Javery will be a winning pitcher and next year I look for him to step right up there with the 12 or 13 game winners."

Despite the fact that Manager Gabby Hartnett was informed before he left Chicago that his Cubs would play a double header with the Bees on this trip, single games are listed this afternoon and tomorrow.

Dick Erickson was Casey Stengel's choice for mound duty today, and Gabby Hartnett countered with Claude Passeau.

Before the game, the Boston Park Department was to hold its annual field day to decide the pitching championship of Bill Mullin's organization. Along with the finalists, there were to be approximately 10,000 boys from the various play grounds in the left field bleachers.

Cincinnati Reds 'as Good as In'

Take All the Fight Out Of Brooklyn Dodgers

By the Associated Press

The Cincinnati Reds are at the stage sometimes called "as good as in" in the National League pennant fuss. They took all the fight out of the fighting Brooklyn Dodgers in that double-decker triumph which put them seven full games on top of the pile.

The Dodgers, who have had some sort of a run-in with about every club in the league except the tail-end Phillies and Boston Bees this year, erupted again in the 11-inning first game with a flurry of fist-cuffs centering around Pete Coscarart of Brooklyn and Lonny Frey of Cincinnati.

DODGERS BUTTONED UP

But this time the greatest modern exponents of "fighting baseball" were up against something they couldn't lick.

After Coscarart and Frey had been thumbed off the field, the Reds worked out a 4-3 victory in that game and then delivered a crushing 9-2 blow in the nightcap.

Although the Reds were 10 games in front on this date a year ago, they are in better shape now than then. A year ago they had won 53 games and lost 30—and had played only 11 of their 22 scheduled games with the troublesome St. Louis Cardinals.

Today the Reds have won 57 games, lost only 23 and have buttoned up Brooklyn to the satisfaction of everybody except the Dodgers.

They have won 10 out of 17 games with the Dodgers, assured themselves of taking their second straight series, and after tonight's tussle will have but four more games to play with Brooklyn.

JOE BEGGS WINS

They triumphed yesterday with their secondary pitchers—Gene Thompson, Joe Beggs and Whitey Moore. Tonight they were ready to fire a real broadside with Bucky Walters, who has won 14 games, including five since his last defeat. Thompson was spiked in the scuffle and had to withdraw in the eighth inning with the score tied. Beggs led the Dodgers scoreless for four frames, and his mates won out with a double and a single in the 11th.

Brooklyn made four errors in this game, for three unearned runs off Whitey Wyatt, and two more in the nightcap in contrast to the flawless fielding of the champions.

In addition Moore scattered seven hits, and the Redlegs make 17 in the second game to drive the capacity crowd of 40,000 loyal Flatbushers to such a frenzy they were hooting their own heroes before they left.

The American League puzzle showed no signs of solving itself. The pace-making Detroit Tigers were tamed 6-3 by the Washington Senators, who outthrew their foes 14-7, more than enough to offset home runs by Dick Bartell and Rudy York.

At night Al Milnar and the Cleveland Indians shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 1-0 to cut the gap between first and second places to half a game.

BROWNS WHIP YANKS

The other "contenders" were pushed farther into the background. The Chicago White Sox edged out the Boston Red Sox 8-7 with Moose Solters going on a tear. He hit a home run, a double and two singles to drive in five runs and scored the winning counter himself.

The New York Yankees folded 9-5 in a night game at St. Louis as Walt Judnich, whom the Yankees sold to the Browns last spring, hit two home runs. Ten of the game's 14 runs were tallied in the first two innings.

Carl Hubbell mastered the Pittsburgh Pirates again under lights, doling out five hits as the New York Giants won 6-1.

His room mate, Mel Ott, hit a homer and two singles to bat in five runs, and Burgess Whitehead hit five singles in five turns at bat as the Giants chipped 17 hits off three pitchers.

Rookie Ken Raffensberger scattered eight hits to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 6-1 conquest of the Bees, and the Cardinals cut loose a 14-hit attack against the Phillies to triumph 7-3.

Sirocco, Bimby Head for Saratoga

Dixiana's Sirocco, hero of the Classic Stakes at Arlington, and Bimelech, the defeated favorite in last Saturday's stake, have headed for Saratoga Springs. Both are eligible for the $65,000 gross American Derby at Washington Park on August 10.

Two Stakes Carded For Empire Windup

Two stakes are down for decision the closing day at Empire City, the $7500 Yonkers Handicap and the $5000 addet Wakefield Handicap. Both are expected to bring out high class fields, despite the exodus to Saratoga.

RAYNHAM PENS TO 12,000 FANS; $80,627 HANDLE

By BILL BRISTOL

With perfect weather conditions and a new track as an inducement, a crowd of 12,000 persons turned out for the introduction of racing under the colors of the Massachusetts Greyhound Ass'n at its new Raynham Park home last night.

Form players had plenty of chance to cheer with four choices coming in on top, while the long shot rooters had five payoffs in double figures, the longest price being a $28.00 return on Rowdy Goey in the sixth race.

While the crowd was large, the wagering was conservative in view of the fact that many were sight-seeing and others were waiting until they could get a better line on the greyhounds.

Yet the figure for the night hit $80,627, which was most satisfactory for all concerned.

The feature of the evening was the Inaugural Cup race and it was taken by Busy Court, owned by A. L. Ayotte, a Woonsocket breeder. Sent off an even money choice, Busy Court took command at the first turn and romped home six lengths ahead of Patsy Cheers, a 17 to 1 shot. Legal Gamble, second favorite, ran third.

With the opening now a thing of the past, interest is centered on tonight's card where the eight outstanding greyhounds at the track will go in the ninth race feature. Daily Record, with two brilliant schoolings, will be the favorite but Brilliant Rose, conqueror of Rural Rube twice last winter in Florida, will receive plenty of support.

Brilliant Rose is figured to be the top greyhound at Raynham but this great little speedster hasn't apparently reached her top form as yet.

Raynham is now looking ahead and if the opening meant anything, the track is an assured success.

Bill Bristol Picks Double, Three Others

Bill Bristol, Boston Evening American handicapper, got away to a flying start at the opening of the Raynham dog track last night, coming up with five winners, including the daily double, and had four of his other top choices run second.

His winners were: Charlie Again, $5.00; Brave Peggy, $5.00; Titled Foreigner, $10.50; Laury, $3.50, and Busy Court, $4.20.

Charlie Again and Brave Peggy paid a $13.00 daily double. Laury was Bristol's best bet, while Busy Court was the supper phone special. Traffic Warrior, the long shot choice, ran second in the nightcap and paid $5.50 in the middle.

Bristol's selections appear only in the Boston Evening American Dog Special edition.

Wooderson Gallops Last Mile in 4:22.5

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—Sydney Wooderson, the little bank clerk who holds the world record of 4:06.4 for the mile, ran his final exhibition race before joining the British army.

He won from a set of club mates who received varying handicaps, but his time was comparatively slow—4:22.5.

Wooderson set his record in August of 1937 in a special race. He clipped four-tenths of a second from the previous record held by Glenn Cunningham of Kansas.

Connecticut Drivers To Compete at Keene

KEENE, N. H., July 24—Outstanding big car drivers from Connecticut will race in the ten-mile whirl at the Safford Park speedway here next Sunday afternoon.

The Northeast Racing Association has received entries from George Bouley and Bud Hardt, Waterbury, Chet Conklin, Danbury, Ted Harley, New Britain and Joe Grant, Milford. Bouley is the state champion.

A special consolation race has been added to the program. Time trials will start at 1 o'clock.

Jenkins Drives Home!

SALT LAKE CITY, July 24 (AP)—Talk about your husman's holiday! Al Jenkins came home after shattering 21 world's land speed records on Bonneville salt flats in a 24-hour grind—driving his own car. The Salt Lake City mayor, his daughter said, refused to allow other members of the family to take the wheel for the 120-mile trip.

Patty Berg Denies Girls Ready To K.O. Men, Despite Golf Win

MINNEAPOLIS, July 24

(AP)—Just because Patty Berg and Bea Barrett shot Sam Snead and Ralph Guldahl to a standstill yesterday over Interlachen's famed course in an exhibition golf match, don't start reserving places for the women in the men's national amateur and open golf tournaments.

The idea got around among some of the more rabid of the 4000 fans who watched Patty and Bea score a best ball 67 against the men's 65 that it wouldn't be long until the girls would be making things hum in the men's premier links events.

When said idea got to Patty, the vigorous red-head disposed of it like 100-degree heat working on a block of ice.

"Why, that's crazy!" she ejaculated with a big smile. Then without waiting for an argument, she plunged on:

"The men are way too long. (Maybe she was thinking of the 360-yard 10th hole, where Sam albut drove the green. "Why on a 440-yarder, the men are getting down with a drive and anything from a four to six iron, while we girls need two woods and a pitch.

"Then the men play 36 holes a day and the girls can't take that.

"No, it'll be the women in the women's events and the men in the men's so far as I can see."

Irrespective of that, Guldahl and Snead took on more than they could handle yesterday when they put their worst ball against the girls' best. The girls won 5 and 3.

Snead had a 70 and Guldahl a 68, five under par, while Patty had a 73, even men's par over a course rated one of the toughest in the country, and Bea took a 76.

And Patty's 73 included a buzzard six on one par four hole!

Heroes and Goats

Flier Killed

En route to Langley Field, Va., base after visit with his parents in Frenchville, Me., Lieut. Raoul J. Bourgois, U. S. Army flier, crashed to death at Hampton Beach, N. H., after his plane struck electric wires and caromed off a cottage. Here is a view of the wreckage, guarded by police, firemen and Coast Guardsmen.

Collapsed

Gathering wood near his Ellis st., Roxbury home, Louis Ashman, 21, barely missed death when two-story wooden dwelling collapsed, trapping his legs under tons of debris. Taken to City Hospital he was found to have suffered only a bruised ankle. Here is scene of wreckage.
